School solution narrowed

New high school would be part of Lake Villa Dist. 41 unit or combined high school district

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Northwest Educational Planning Group has scrapped five possible school solutions and is down to two new possibilities suggested at the last meeting.

The group is now pondering a K-12 unit district formed within the existing Lake Villa Elementary District or combining Grayslake and Antioch high school districts. The group consists of Antioch Community High School Board, Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst village board, chamber officials and all the elementary districts which feed into Antioch Community High School.

"We have been talking about this since 1986," said Ray Novak, Grayslake Community High School superintendent regarding either combining high schools or sharing the costs and operation of a new high school.

Novak explained from an economic point of view, creating one high school instead of two new high schools may be the best solution.

"We have to build a new school because

Antioch Jr. Woman's Club celebrates 10th anniversary

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Regional Editor

Ten years ago, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club began with 10 women meeting in one of their homes with the hopes of establishing a social outlet for women eager to contribute to the community and to charitable causes.

Ten years later, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club boasts between 50 and 55 members who have become a reliable source of volunteers for many village events and causes.

Additionally, the club's charitable arm now reaches beyond the confines of Antioch and includes regional and countywide organizations such as LaCasa, Safe Place, and ALL Parents Network. Of course, the club's heart and soul reaches out to local organizations the most. Some of them include the Antioch Rescue Squad, the Antioch Fire Department, PADS, and the Antioch Community Food Pantry.

Actually, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club may be considered an offshoot from the Antioch Woman's Club. The main difference between the two clubs is that the junior club meets at night and the Antioch Woman's Club meets in the afternoon. Many women are members of both clubs.

"With more and more women working, there was no other organization or club that gave an opportunity for women to get together socially or participate in community projects," recalled Linda Peterson, one of the founding members of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club.

Now, each year the club grows in the number of members and in the number of projects the Antioch Junior Woman's Club embraces.

"As we have grown as a club, we've been able to take on more projects," noted Carol Jester, who has watched the club grow since being elected the first president of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club in 1987.

For the most part, the club began by establishing a scholarship fund and helping out during the Lions Club and Antioch Rescue Squad annual auction and chicken dinner.

Since then, you can bet Antioch Junior Woman's Club members are lending helping hands in just about every event or cause in town from the building of the Centennial Park Playground to flipping flapjacks during the firemen's Pancake Breakfast.

"It amazes me what a small club of 45 to 50 women can do," Peterson said.

Club leaders emphasize involvement. Jester pointed out that each member has to be on a committee and assist with at

Club offers evening of laughs

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club will be celebrating its 10th anniversary with a comedy night to be held at St. Peter's Social Center on Saturday, March 8, at 7 p.m.

Comedians Ed Fiala and Sonya White will provide the laughter.

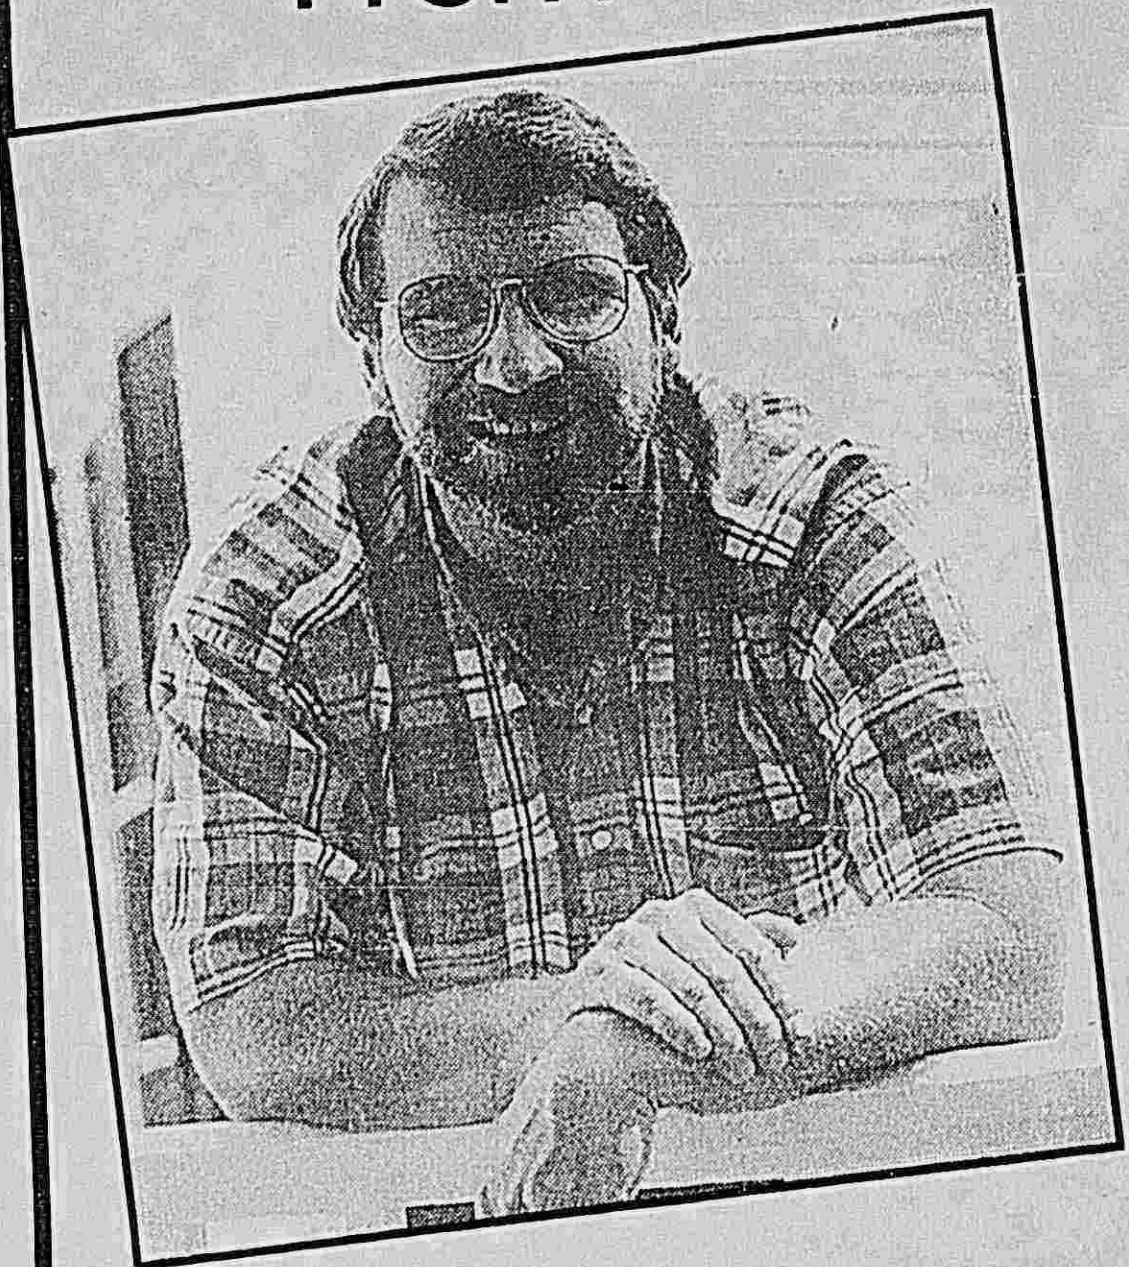

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club welcomes the public to the evening of laughter. Tickets are $15 and are available through club members or at First National Bank, Antioch Parks and Recreation and at the door.

Founded in 1986, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club is a social outlet for women that provides service to the community. Meetings are held the second Tuesday of the month (September through May) at the Community Room. For more information, call Club President Amy Winters at 395-3434.

Village to swap land for more parking

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees are working to provide more parking downtown and are proposing a land swap to make it happen.

The board is beginning the process to acquire a portion of the southeast corner of Orchard and Main Street. Don Pittman car dealership occupies a portion of this property and would remain until the lease is expired. The board would then trade the Brans Nut building and $67,000 for the site, according to Kenneth Clark, village attorney.

"This is a prime parking location," said Claude LeMere, community development director.

He explained it would replace parking lost when Orchard Street was expanded and create additional parking for downtown shoppers and visitors to the proposed wetlands recreation area on Skidmore Drive behind Main Street.

The move would assist businesses on the north end of Main Street such as JJ Blinkers and the Choosey Child while making it more attractive for additional retailers.

The village would wait until the existing lease is expired. The lot would just take a portion of the Pittman property. This property is about 1/2 acre.

Now, the Brans Nut building must be put up for public sale. The deal would be with developer John Terresi. Terresi will honor the village's lease with Brans Nut.

"The village is not interested in staying in the rental business," LeMere said.

The village will have 30 days to determine if they would want to sell the Brans Nut company to anyone else.

If the deal is finalized, the village will have acquired the property without having to enter into condemnation proceedings.

The village will also pocket the rental Pittman is paying to Terresi while Terresi would collect the Brans Nut rent.

Library may add computer games

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Public Library will likely soon be a source to try out computer games.

The library board is beginning the process to allow games to be checked out by patrons. Before that happens, a policy was approved and a system must be created to protect the games so they will last, according to Kathy LaBuda, library director.

The policy will require a late charge of $1 per day if the games aren't returned, according to LaBuda.

The check out time would be limited to one week.

People checking them out will see information warning them not to put the games on their hard drives.

LaBuda said one of the main concerns is working with the manufacturers on the use of the games.

She added the board can't afford to pay a user fee if the manufacturers charge one.

LaBuda added staff and the board is working to provide games for check out by May. She said they are initially looking at 30 games to start with.

The games also must be specially packaged to ensure the games last for a longer period of time than just keeping them in game boxes.

Two vie for township assessor

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Township assessor candidates presented their vision of how they think the office should be run.

Newcomers Heather Kufalk-Marotta and Michael Mueller are vying for the post. Both were on hand at a Candidate Forum sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry Feb. 27. Both have extensive experience with assessing property.

Kufalk-Marotta has been the deputy assessor for 11 years. She is a certified Illinois assessing official. Mueller has been the deputy assessor at Newport Township since 1991. He also is a certified Illinois assessing official.

"I will be a full-time assessor with expanded office hours," Kufalk-Marotta promised.

"We need to handle things at the local level," Mueller said.

"People shouldn't have to go through the expense of hiring an attorney."

Mueller was referring to what he felt was some unfair assessments by assessors' office. He said there have been people who have to fight the office almost on a yearly basis.

"I enjoy working with the public and want to assure good communication and be available to the public," Kufalk-Marotta said.

Township trustee hopefuls tell views

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Antioch Township trustee candidates explained why they should get residents' vote in the April 1 election.

Seeking election are incumbent Trustees Judith Davis and Claudette Skvarce and newcomers Ardeen Harris, Roy Sackschewsky, Wanda Schaefer and Steve Smouse. Davis was the only candidate not attending a candidate forum sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry.

Each candidate was given time to introduce themselves to the estimated 75 people attending the forum. Sackschewsky was critical about how the township board seemed to be handling public concerns.

"The township board seems to think the township money is their money. It is not theirs; it is ours," Sackschewsky said.

He suggested copies of the bills be shown to the public instead of residents having to fill out Freedom of Information Act requests.

He questioned why the township board didn't act on petitions made by the public on several issues, including the formation of a Township Plan Commission.

Sackschewsky is a 16-year resident. His volunteer activities include being Chairman of Against Riverboat Casinos and Alliance for Better Government.

"I always worked hard and will do my best to represent the residents' best interests," Harris said.

Schaefer felt her best qualities were ability to adapt and provide leadership.

"The real strength is doing day-to-day tasks and to work together with adaptability and leadership," Schaefer.

Schaefer has filled many posts with the Girl Scouts and St. Peter School, including school board member.

Skvarce talked about efforts in developing a salary survey for township officials and having trustees paid per meeting and not paying them if they miss more than two meetings a year.

"The salary was frozen at $175 per meeting. You have to be at the meetings," she said.

Smouse stressed two issues, sewers and what the township board can do.

"If the sewers come, the growth will follow. We can only do what the township board is allowed to do," Smouse said.

Smouse was on the Antioch Plan Commission for 12 years. He stressed it is important to know what is being approved before the vote is taken.

Davis was not at the event and her comments will be included at a later date.

New fire maintenance facility in the works

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Fire Department will soon have a new maintenance and storage facility.

The village board is expected to finalize a rezoning of 806 Holbeck Drive from Residential-2 zoning to R2 with a special use permit. The property will be a combination fire maintenance, storage and public works offices.

"We needed a building with a taller roof," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

She explained the existing fire station's roof is too low for maintenance of fire trucks.

The residence is across the street from the fire department building. The home will be used for public works offices.

Another structure will be constructed for the maintenance facility.

The village has already bid the project and has a tentative estimate of $146,000.

Older fire equipment and trucks will also be stored at the building, according to Tim Wells, village administrator.

The final plans are being worked out. The board is hoping to begin the project in late spring.

The board is expected to approve the rezoning at the next board meeting.

Dynasty rolls on at ACHS

It is difficult for pom pons and cheerleaders to be one of the best in the state as it is for any other athletic team. It is remarkable for poms and cheers from one school to be outstanding at one time.

Antioch Community High School is the exception. The pom pon varsity squad took first place at the Stevenson High School Regional competition. The cheerleaders also won the Stevenson Regional for cheerleaders.

In the past several years, both squads have been recognized in the state as teams to beat, as they rack up numerous competition trophies. After any competition entered into by poms or cheers, ACHS is usually right on or near the top. Trophies have been won at Regional, Super Sectional, State, and national competitions, with poms taking second at state last year.

Continued excellence and determination would indicate that it's only a matter of time before a state trophy resides in the ACHS trophy case. Both coaches, Joy Edge for pom pons and Bill Goetzelman for cheerleading, agree that it's like being on a roll.

Once you start winning you fall into a pattern that builds momentum from year to year. Once you set up a winning tradition it just keeps rolling along. Lack of facilities and lack of recognition have heightened the desire to achieve. Much credit can also be given to the individuals on the squads who practice with intensity and dedication equal to or above other sports programs at the school.

The immediate goal of both squads is to bring home a state trophy, and the time seems ripe, meaning it could happen this year.

Cheerleaders include Shannon Bonner, Heather Burress, Laura Deutsch, Sherry Friedle, Christine Goblirsch, Allisa Grinde, Jenny Gusserson, Candice Kasprzak, Kacy Koperski, Lisa Marshall, Holly McNamara, Teri Mozal, Betsy Sperling and Cathy Sperling.

Pom pons include Melissa Hague, Stephanie Haenchen, Kristy Miedema, Audra Miles, Liz Moyano, Alexis Dayhuff, Sarah Trovillion, Megan Tripp, Shannon Pedersen, Shannah Jaburik, Sarah Pendley, Channelle Bernt, Samantha Griffin, Nicole Ginascol, Stacy Astar, Stacey Larcom, Korbyn May, Krista Hintz, Kelly Haley, Katie Dalton and Molly Meyer.

Taxi driver steers into nightmare

A language barrier combined with too much alcohol resulted in a harrowing experience for both the passengers and driver of a cab from Metro taxi March 4.

When two Libertyville men were too intoxicated to drive home from Sandy & Gwen's on Diamond Lake Road in Mundelein, the bartender called a taxi. The driver, a recent immigrant from the Ukraine, had a limited command of English. His passengers were both Hispanic and likewise were not proficient in English.

Humberto Barrera, 32, of 617 W. Park, and Santiago Cruz, 36, of 611 W. Park, demanded to be taken to an address in Waukegan. The taxi traveled up Route 45 to Winchester, then turned east. The passengers became nervous, and suspicious of the driver. Barrera, in the back seat, commanded him to stop, then grabbed him by the neck when he didn't. Cruz, in the front, later said he believed all cab drivers were armed with knives and held the driver's arms to prevent an attack. In an ensuing scuffle, Barrera bit part of the driver's nose off and all three got out of the car. Cruz took an empty beer bottle from his pocket and shattered it over the head of the driver before they both took off running.

Police responded to the report of an incessant horn and loud yelling in the 900 block of W. Winchester around 2-a.m. Meanwhile, a replacement taxi driver who came to pick up the victim's cab while the rescue squad took him to Condell Medical Center came across the suspects running along Winchester. She offered them a ride, drove to the service station at Butterfield and Route 45, and called police.

Barrera and Cruz were both charged with battery; they each posted $100 and were released to appear in court in Waukegan March 24. The driver, 33, was treated and released from Condell.

A perk for expectant moms

We are all well aware that the first 23 parking spaces in any parking lot bear that little wheel-chaired character establishing them as "Handicapped parking spaces." We have come to accept this. And, in some parts of the United States you can even find a smattering of parking lots that have designated areas for senior citizens. But, folks, low and behold this designated parking plan has gotten a bit out of hand.

At a shopping establishment in a neighboring town they now have parking spaces bearing a flying stork carrying a cute little bundle in its beak—"Expectant mother" parking spaces. Does this not border a little on the bizarre side of the road. Now as compassionate citizens we don't begrudge for one minute those Handicap Spaces.

What, if any, advantages there are to senior citizen designated parking spaces is hard to say but, there's definitely problems with the Pregnant Women parking spots. These women need the exercise. They should be parking in the remote sections of the lot and walking the extra mile or two up to the front doors of the store. These women are in for nothing but a rude awakening come baby birthin' time and they are no longer privy to those plush parking spots.

The day will come, when they have to haul a baby, the car carrier, the diaper bag and themselves into a store from a regular parking space and boy are they going to wish they had built up those inner thigh muscles and hoofed into the store all the way from parking lot "Z" during the pregnancy days. This is a concept that could really infuriate a small portion of the population. Some people just plain choose not to have children and others are finished with that baby business part of their lives, so they would never be entitled to those up front parking spots. Why not pull out all the stakes and create parking spots that encompass all aspects of life. Where are the special parking spots for moms with over two children. Or what about creating spots for the "I just gotta run in for a gallon of milk" crowd. How about the few incompetent slugs who feel its better to leave their unattended children in the car while they do their shopping?

This is nothing against pregnant women, being pregnant definitely has its perks in life, but posh parking spaces should not be one of them. And, how exactly does an officer of the law enforce the parking rule. Granted, some women blossom early in their pregnancy and there would be no denying what state they are in, but others don't have the pleasure of wriggling into one of those wonderfully designed maternity frocks until they are well into their seventh or eighth month.

With all this new Invitro and fertility stuff going on women know the exact minute of their conception, so will this require women who are perhaps only six days pregnant to carry an ultrasound picture of her growing womb? And, tell me what police officer is trained to interpret whether or not the picture this woman is holding is a picture of a fetus or someone's inflamed appendixes. So, although the whole concept behind "Expectant Mother" parking spaces may be a good-hearted idea, it just one more of those really fun experiences during pregnancy that "Expectant Dads" might feel left out of. And, we all know how men love those "front row" parking spots.

Former dentist takes up clock repair

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

For most retirees a watch is a gift. For Bill Revenaugh, keeping clocks going keeps him going.

Revenaugh, an Antioch Rotarian, is a resident of Old Mill Creek. He picked up clock repair as something to do after retiring from his dental practice in Lake Forest.

"I am fascinated by the mechanics of it," Revenaugh said. "I like things that are mechanical."

Revenaugh mentioned he had slowly been getting into the business for five years. He admits his first repairs may not have been a shining example of workmanship, but it helped him learn the craft.

He added he has attended classes in Lake Forest and courses by the National Society of Clock Machinists.

"It's nice to be in a business with no complaints and no biting," Revenaugh joked.

Being a dentist for 35 years helped prepare him for his new work.

"I am used to working with small tools," he said.

Revenaugh can repair a clock a day. Most of his work revolves around fixing broken grandfather clocks.

He said many of them need new movements after only 7-10 years because the brass parts are made from thin material.

One of his more interesting projects is a clock which dates back to the 1750s.

To build something like this in the 1600s and 1700s is mind boggling," Revenaugh said.

Revenaugh's community service also includes being on the plan commission for Old Mill Creek and serving as the village treasurer.

of the growth in the area,"
Novak said.

Grayslake High School board expects to be out of room in about three years based on enrollment projections provided by an independent demographer. Novak said his board must make a decision as early as this July to plan for the growth.

ACHS board has committed to two high schools. They are keeping the existing campus and are looking to build another campus as enrollment swells down the road.

"We will need to discuss this with our board to see how they feel," said Dr. Dennis Hockney, ACHS superintendent of the latest two options.

The other possibility is creating a unit district within existing boundaries of District 41. This option is different from the proposed unit district defeated by voters in 1994 because it doesn't include Millburn or Antioch elementary students or division of property.

Novak said his board is willing to look at the new unit plan, however, he is concerned with the distribution of assets.

If a district is created from a portion of an existing district, it gets a portion of the former district's assets based on student population.

"We can't afford to pay $2 million," Novak stressed.

The entities have been meeting for a year trying to come up with a solution which is favorable to all the districts, which could be supported by the communities involved.

However, each option considered, such as a super unit district combining all elementary districts into one high school district, creating two unit districts, creating a unit district without Millburn and doing nothing different were all rejected by the group.

Lindhurst is a prime example of why the group was formed. Lindhurst children attend five school districts.

Mayor Paul Baumunk didn't wish to comment on the process at this time but was upset with what happened at the Feb. 25 meeting.

The next meeting is tentatively planned for March 31, 7 p.m. at the District 41 administrative complex.

Anniversary-

least one "ways and means" project.

In addition to helping out in the Antioch community, the Antioch Junior Woman's Club keeps in contact with other clubs in Lake County as well as the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Illinois.

"You learn so much from the other clubs," said Pat Clark of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club. "You share ideas and bring them back to your own clubs."

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club also caters to the individual needs and concerns of women by providing social camaraderie.

"I can call any member in this club and ask for help for anything," said Amy Winters, current club president.

During meetings, the club tries to provide informative programs and speakers on various topics ranging from women's fitness to identifying the signs of child abuse.

They also use the meetings to try to identify needs in the community and devise ways to meet those needs.

Last year, the club filled backpacks with personal items and donated them to PADS. The latest endeavor, for example, was the creation of a four-week baby-sitting clinic offered to young people. The baby-sitting clinic provided information on a variety of topics for prospective baby-sitters.

Antioch Junior Woman's Club members are not only excited about what they have accomplished over the last 10 years, but they are equally excited about what the future holds.

"We have many new young members," Winters said. "It's a real win-win situation when you have the experience of the older members and newer ideas of the newer members."

That first group of women and those sure to come are a living testimony of the Junior Woman's Club pledge which states in part: Live each day by trying to accomplish something, not merely to exist.

Eighth grade
Sequoits .500

The Antioch Junior Sequoits eighth grade boys basketball team gained two wins and reached the .500 mark in games last week.

The Junior Sequoits downed Grayslake 54-40. Brandon White scored 15 points, Eric White had 12, Bob Huebner 6 and Bryant Popp 5. Mike Perrone, Eric Langer and Rob Lodesky led the rebounding effort. Justen Kent, Ari Brown and Zach Pratt were leaders on defense.

Antioch beat Stevenson 59-51. Eric White had 19 points, Kent 9, Brown 6 and Perrone 6. Perrone and Scott Hodina pulled down the most rebounds. Lodesky and Popp led the defense.

The seventh grade team won three of four games for an 11-5 record. They beat Stevenson 59-42; beat Highland Park 50-41 and downed Grayslake 61-45. The loss came to Deerfield, 54-39.

Joe Finkelberg had 11 points against Stevenson and Chris Kocinski had 9, Andrew Kinney and Jeff Huebner 8.

Kocinski pumped in 22 points against Highland Park while Brian Walsh had 6.

Prince of Peace tops

Prince of Peace School in Lake Villa took first place in an Antioch High invitational volleyball tournament.

Eight area grade schools participated in the two-day event.

Bulldogs leave Sequoits singing the blues

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

As anyone who hears the National Anthem at Grant High can verify, Chuck Bosworth has a future in singing.

His plans include a music scholarship to attend Millikin University. Thanks to a 22-point effort and some intense play from teammates as well, the senior has a present in basketball as well.

Grant proved to all doubters that it had earned a first-round home game with a 62-56 win over Antioch in the first round of the Waukegan sectional.

"I'm absolutely thrilled," Bosworth said about having a chance to play Deerfield in the regional final away on March 7. Deerfield comes in as the top seeded team and has Lake County's all-time leading scorer in Ryan Hogan, but Tuesday it was the Bulldogs time to shine.

They gained revenge for a non-conference loss to Antioch just before the seeding meeting as they held Chris Groth to near his average of 24 points and only seven in the final period.

"We wanted him to shoot twos, not threes," Bosworth said. "Dave Guisinger did a great job on him," Bosworth said.

Guisinger did not play in the first meeting and neither did Chris Gallimore for Grant.

Some other heroes for the Northwest Suburban Conference champs, now 18-8:

Kirk Johnson and his first-half rebounds.

Dave Fries with 8 rebounds as a 6-foot forward.

A 24-6 advantage in made free throws for Grant.

"Groth got his points - he earned every one of them. We changed up on him so he did not end up getting 30. Everybody else did their job. We had pretty good interior and exterior defense. We are happy with our defensive game," Grant coach Tom Maple said.

Grant made 18-of-23 free throws in the final quarter. "That is enough to win most games," Maple said. "We also shot the ball better from the field."

Bosworth's 22 points came the hard way - on penetrating moves on clear out plays to the basket. His three-point shots were minimal but he scored 10 points better than his average.

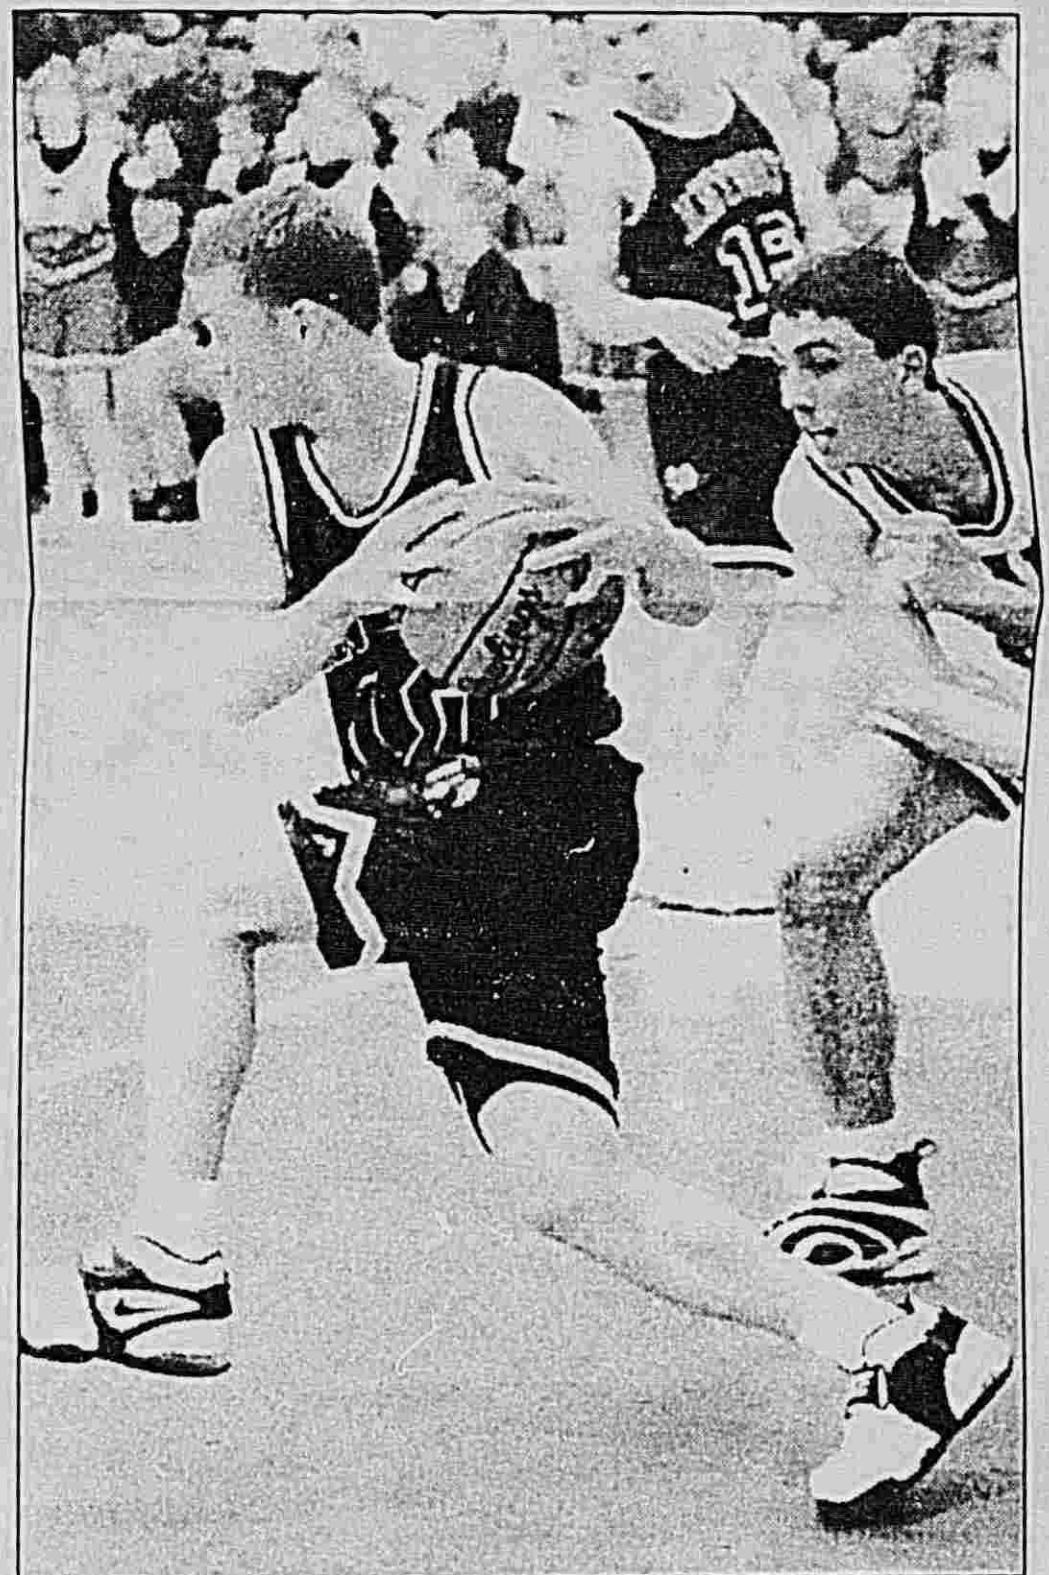

Grant held a 23-18 lead at halftime as they led by as many as seven in the second quarter.

Bosworth had four points at the close of the third period for a 7-point lead, 37-30. The lead opened to 11 points in the first three minutes of the fourth period on two Jeff Ramlow free throws.

A three-pointer by Mike Nielsen keyed a seven point run for the 11-14 Sequoits, but Grant made 5-of-6 free throws to stay ahead.

Freshman Don Lackey gave ACHS two double digit scorers with 10 points, the final hoop coming on a tip-in for a six-point deficit.

As the euphoria of the 18th win dies down, the reality set in about Hogan and Deerfield.

Kerns gains All-American status

Joe Kerns of Grayslake became the first College of Lake County wrestler to gain All-American status for the second straight year as he earned a sixth place at the national junior college wrestling meet.

Kerns improved his place by one from a year earlier by winning three matches on Friday in Bismark, North Dakota.

"Joe had his focus for the first day like I have never seen him before. He wanted to do well in that level of competition," CLC coach Stan Pasiewicz said.

In the first round, Kerns defeated a Rochester, Minn. wrestler 10-2. In the quarterfinals he downed a Highline, Wash. wrestler 5-3 on a last-second takedown.

In the semis, he lost to the eventual national champ at 142 pounds, from Clackamas, Ore. in a fall. He lost to rival James Wright of Lincoln and gained sixth place.

"He was wrestling some solid kids with good records. He frustrated them in that he did not allow many points. Saturday, his momentum was not there as he knew he had placed," Pasiewicz said.

Kerns completed the season 12-6.

Previous all-Americans were Casey Welter from Grant; Wilbur Borero of Waukegan; Joe Belcher of Round Lake; Curt Onstad of Grayslake; Vernoe Pope of Waukegan. CLC has had 24 national qualifiers since 1969 and three national champs. Fourteen of the national qualifiers were coached by Pasiewicz.

Tony Carlsen of Libertyville at 126 had qualified for nationals as well as Shane Cook of Waukegan at 150 pounds but did not compete.

CLC placed fourth in the sectional meet, 20th out of 35 teams at national.

Other squad members were: Ken Gersch of McHenry, Oscar Rivera of Waukegan and Steve Brzykcy, a Warren High grad.

As for the future, CLC plans an organizational meeting March 10 to discuss application process, cost comparisons, practice and season schedules and academic and wrestling expectations.

For more information, call Pasiewicz at 223-3600 days or 587-7281 evenings.

"I met a lot of kids at sectional and regional - I feel comfortable about the future," Pasiewicz said.

ACHS trio shows perimeter shot talent

Antioch High may have been bumped from the first round of the Waukegan sectional by Grant, but three Sequoias will continue on in the three-point shooting competition March 7 at Deerfield.

Senior reserve Paul Spronk and Mike Nielsen made 10-of-15 shots. Kevin Chudd, a senior guard, made 8 to qualify.

The battle at Grant featured a battle of the Bosworths. After tying in regulation with 6, there was a shoot-off from the baselines. Both made four, then frosh Wayne beat his older brother Chuck with a 4-3 tally in the next round.

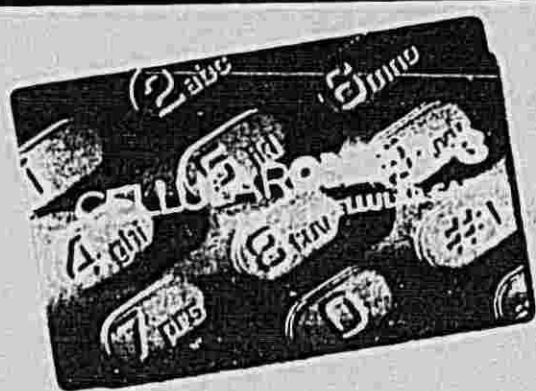

"If there was another tie, I would have told him, 'you take it,'" Chuck Bosworth joked.

Chuck Bosworth scored 22 points in Grant's 62-56 win.

Grant (18-8) is at top-seeded Deerfield March 7 with a spot in the sectional semifinals in Waukegan March 11 at stake.

Carmel looks for offense as ESCC season closes

Offense was the priority for Carmel as the Corsairs prepared for the post-season tourney with hopes of knocking off one of the top seeds.

Carmel clashed with Warren High, the second seed of the Waukegan sectional in the first round on Wednesday. The Corsairs had the tempo they liked but not the result in a 42-39 loss at Notre Dame on Friday in a East Suburban Catholic Conference game.

"Both teams slowed the game down and were patient," Carmel coach Ben Berg said.

Carmel was down 35-32 in the fourth quarter only to see Notre Dame extend the lead to five, with a key put back of a missed shot. Carmel trimmed the lead on Brian Stone free throws with 11 seconds left for a three-point deficit. But Notre Dame shut down the CHS offense in the waning seconds.

"Lately we have been doing a better job on rebounds. It was a 22-22 stalemate, but they had 13 on the offensive glass. We have to hold Warren to eight or 10 offensive rebounds," Berg said before the tourney.

Notre Dame switched to a triangle and two defense, putting the man-to-man pressure on guards John Koch and soph Nick Leider. "They had less opportunities to get the ball," Berg said.

Schmidt led the CHS offense with 12 points. "We would like to have him get the ball more because he shoots 61 percent from the field," Berg said.

The two teams were deadlocked at 16-16 at halftime. The Corsairs finished 4-9 in the ESCC and were 6-19 before the clash at WTHS.

A young and changing roster has meant several players have had a chance to contribute. Leider and Greg Teipel are two of those who are returning.

"We have a lot of young guys who are coming back. Because of where we are developmentally and our tough schedule, we have not had a lot of blowout games. We play two or three juniors and a sophomore," Berg said.

Antioch Township subdivision still on hold

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa trustees and the developer of a proposed subdivision, mostly in Antioch Township, still haven't come to an annexation agreement.

The developer, Rich Ender, doesn't want to pay a water recapture agreement with the village. If he is unwilling to pay the fee, the board will not amend the annexation agreement. The board approved an agreement, all that is required is the developer's signature.

"If you have capacity, you should have to pay your fair share," Loffredo said.

The board has consistently required all developers to either construct a well or pay for their share into creating more capacity to the system.

"It would go toward the development of another well site as it is needed," Loffredo explained.

The proposed development is a 60-acre tract on the north side of Grass Lake Road just west of Oakland School. The subdivision is planned to have 120 single-family homes.

Approximately 40 acres of the land is in Antioch Township. If agreement is reached, this will be the first subdivision from the Village of Lake Villa in Antioch Township.

For that to happen, the village and developer must work out the recapture issue.

Also involved is a possible sewer hookup to Oakland School. The developer has agreed to provide a sewer hookup to the school if the agreement is approved.

Two months ago the issue was whether the village was responsible for snow plowing Lee Street. A month ago the concern was in the language of the agreement.

Arbor Day Foundation Sets Goal to Plant 10 Million Trees During 125th Anniversary

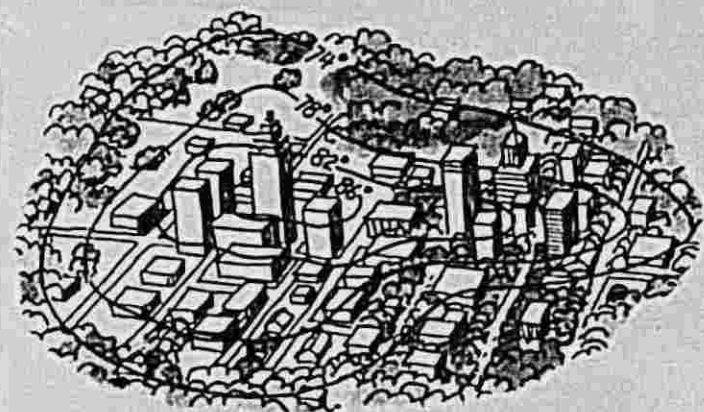

We Need More Trees Where We Live

■ We Need More Trees for Wildlife

Trees help make nature a part of our daily lives. Trees provide nesting sites for songbirds, and food and cover for a wide variety of wildlife.

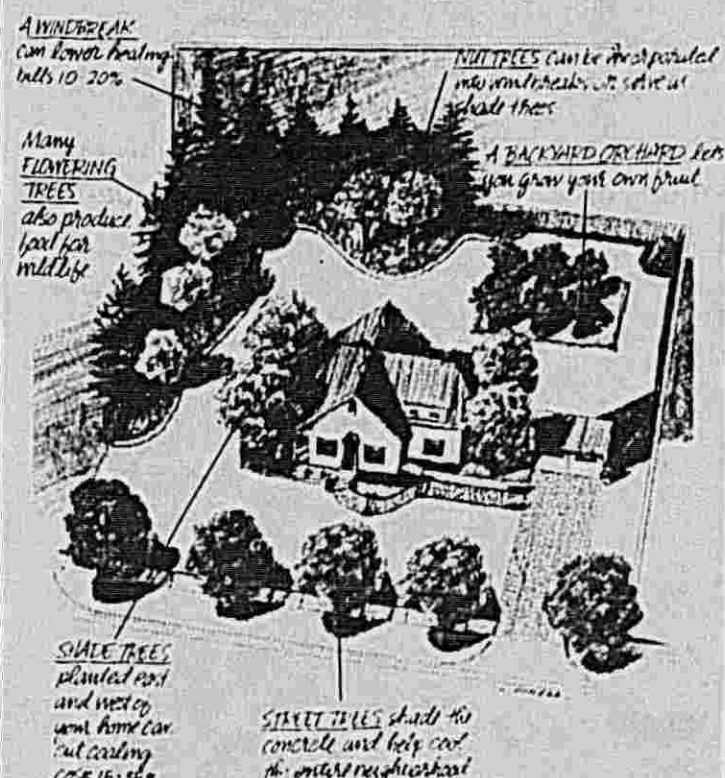

■ We Need More Trees to Conserve Energy

Cities without trees are "heat islands"; 100 million additional mature trees in U.S. cities would save $2 billion per year in energy costs. The objective of the Arbor Day Foundation's Tree City USA program is more trees throughout America's towns and cities.

■ We Need More Trees to Increase Property Values

Trees around your home can increase its value up to 15% or more. The trees plant home more CO₂ from the air, produce oxygen and give you a quiet home. Trees provide many other benefits.

Sources: Arbor Day Foundation, USDA Forest Service, National Urban and Community Forestry Advisory Council

The flowers of the White Flowering Dogwood (Cornus florida) are large and showy in the spring. Dogwoods' green leaves turn purple in the fall. Their glossy red fruits provide food for songbirds during the fall and winter.

► Ten Free Flowering Trees

Ten free flowering trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation.

The ten trees are two White Flowering Dogwoods, two Flowering Crabapples, two Golden Rain trees, two Washington Hawthorns, and two American Redbuds.

"This year is the 125th Anniversary of Arbor Day, and the free flowering trees are part of The National Arbor Day Foundation's Trees for America campaign to plant 10 million trees in 1997," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said.

"These compact trees were selected for planting in large or small spaces," Rosenow said. "They will give your home the beauty of lovely pink, white, and yellow flowers — and also provide winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in your area, February through May in the spring, or October through mid-December in the fall, along with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

"Planting trees is something that each of us can do to leave our mark on the earth," Rosenow said. "Tree planting is a positive act that will improve our neighborhoods and communities, and make life better for future generations."

America Needs More Trees

The United States has lost a third of its forest cover during the last 200 years.

Our towns and cities should have twice as many street trees as we have today.

We need more trees around our homes and throughout our communities. We need more trees to protect our farm fields and our rivers and streams. To provide wood for our homes and the thousands of products we use every day.

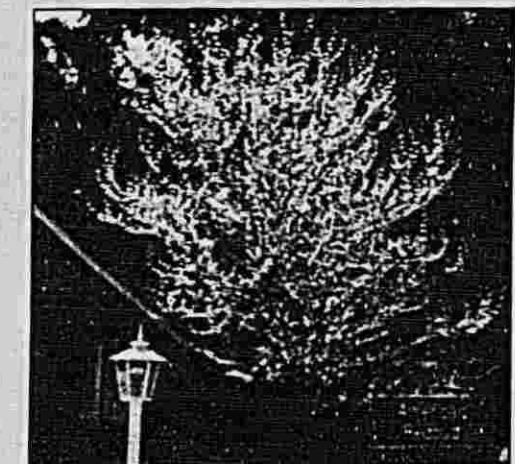

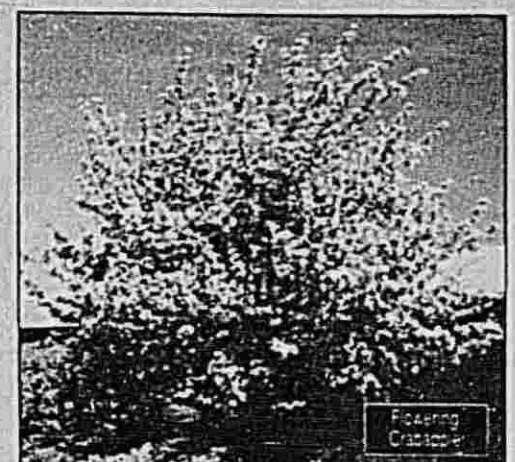

Trees Help Conserve Energy

Trees cool our homes and entire cities in the summer, and slow cold winter winds. Shade trees and windbreaks can cut home utility bills 15-35%.

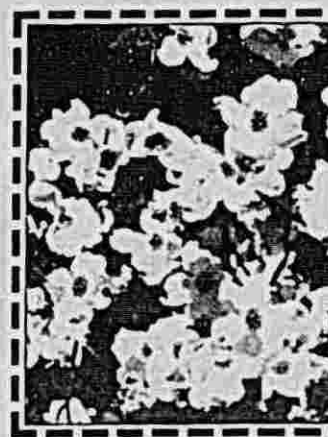

Trees clean the air we breathe. They provide life-giving oxygen while they remove particulates from the air and reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide.

Trees fight erosion, and they provide food, shelter, and nesting sites for songbirds.

You can help make the future better and more secure by planting trees. Join today, and plant your Trees for America!

Bravissimo!

CLC celebrates the arts in high style with new Performing Arts building

Although temporary signs directed students amid the hum of power tools, classes began back in January in the new Instructional Performing Arts Building at the College of Lake County.

The public is invited to join in official grand opening festivities that begin this weekend. "Bravissimo!" will feature a dedication ceremony beginning at 1 p.m., March 8, in the lobby, followed by a sampling of dance, music and theater performances. Special events throughout the next two weeks will give students and the public a sparkling introduction to the potential of the new center.

"This facility is better than many I have seen at four-year colleges," said Gwethalyn Bronner, a fine arts graduate of Northwestern University and director of the center. "It is state-of-the-art and it is new."

Bronner plans to match that high quality with performances of the same caliber while providing the best possible training in the arts.

"One of my goals is to present the best entertainment that we can," she promised. "We will be presenting a variety of artistic disciplines; it has to be high quality."

Performances began last month with a concert by the Symphonic Pops Orchestra of Chicago. Workers struggled to complete the 600-seat Mainstage theatre which includes a motorized orchestra pit and seats that can be removed for wheelchair access.

"There are no bad seats in this house," said Bronner, and technical theater instructor Tom Mitchell described equipment for the hearing impaired that will take the sound signals to special headsets. "We had an auditorium that was a glorified lecture hall," he recalled. "Acoustically it was a very bad space."

The official opening of the new building features a variety of special events and performances.

The Studio Theatre was christened with a production of "The Glass Menagerie" that began Feb. 28 and runs through March 8. Students will greet spring with a production of "She Loves Me" in April.

The 250-seat theater includes a center space that is completely flexible and a "trap room," explained technical theater instructor Tom Mitchell. "We're delighted with the intimacy of this space," he added.

A poetry reading is scheduled there for 7 p.m., March 20. Debra Bruce will read from her new collection entitled "What Wind Will Do."

The opening celebration will continue for the better part of two weeks as all areas of the building come to life.

The CLC Jazz Ensembles will warm up the audience for a special treat on March 12. At 7:30 p.m., jazz pianist Ramsey Lewis will deliver an unforgettable program and performance in the Mainstage Theatre. Although admission is free, space is limited and tickets are required.

CLC music instructor Bruce Mack directs more than 100 instrumental students.

"We have a wind ensemble, and we hope to form a concert band," he said. "It will give more people an opportunity to play."

The instrumental music room is down a hallway lined with instructional and rehearsal rooms to the right of the glass rotunda entrance.

"They're close to the performing area," explained Bronner. "(Students) just have to go right down the hall to the 600-seat theater where we will be doing most of our performing."

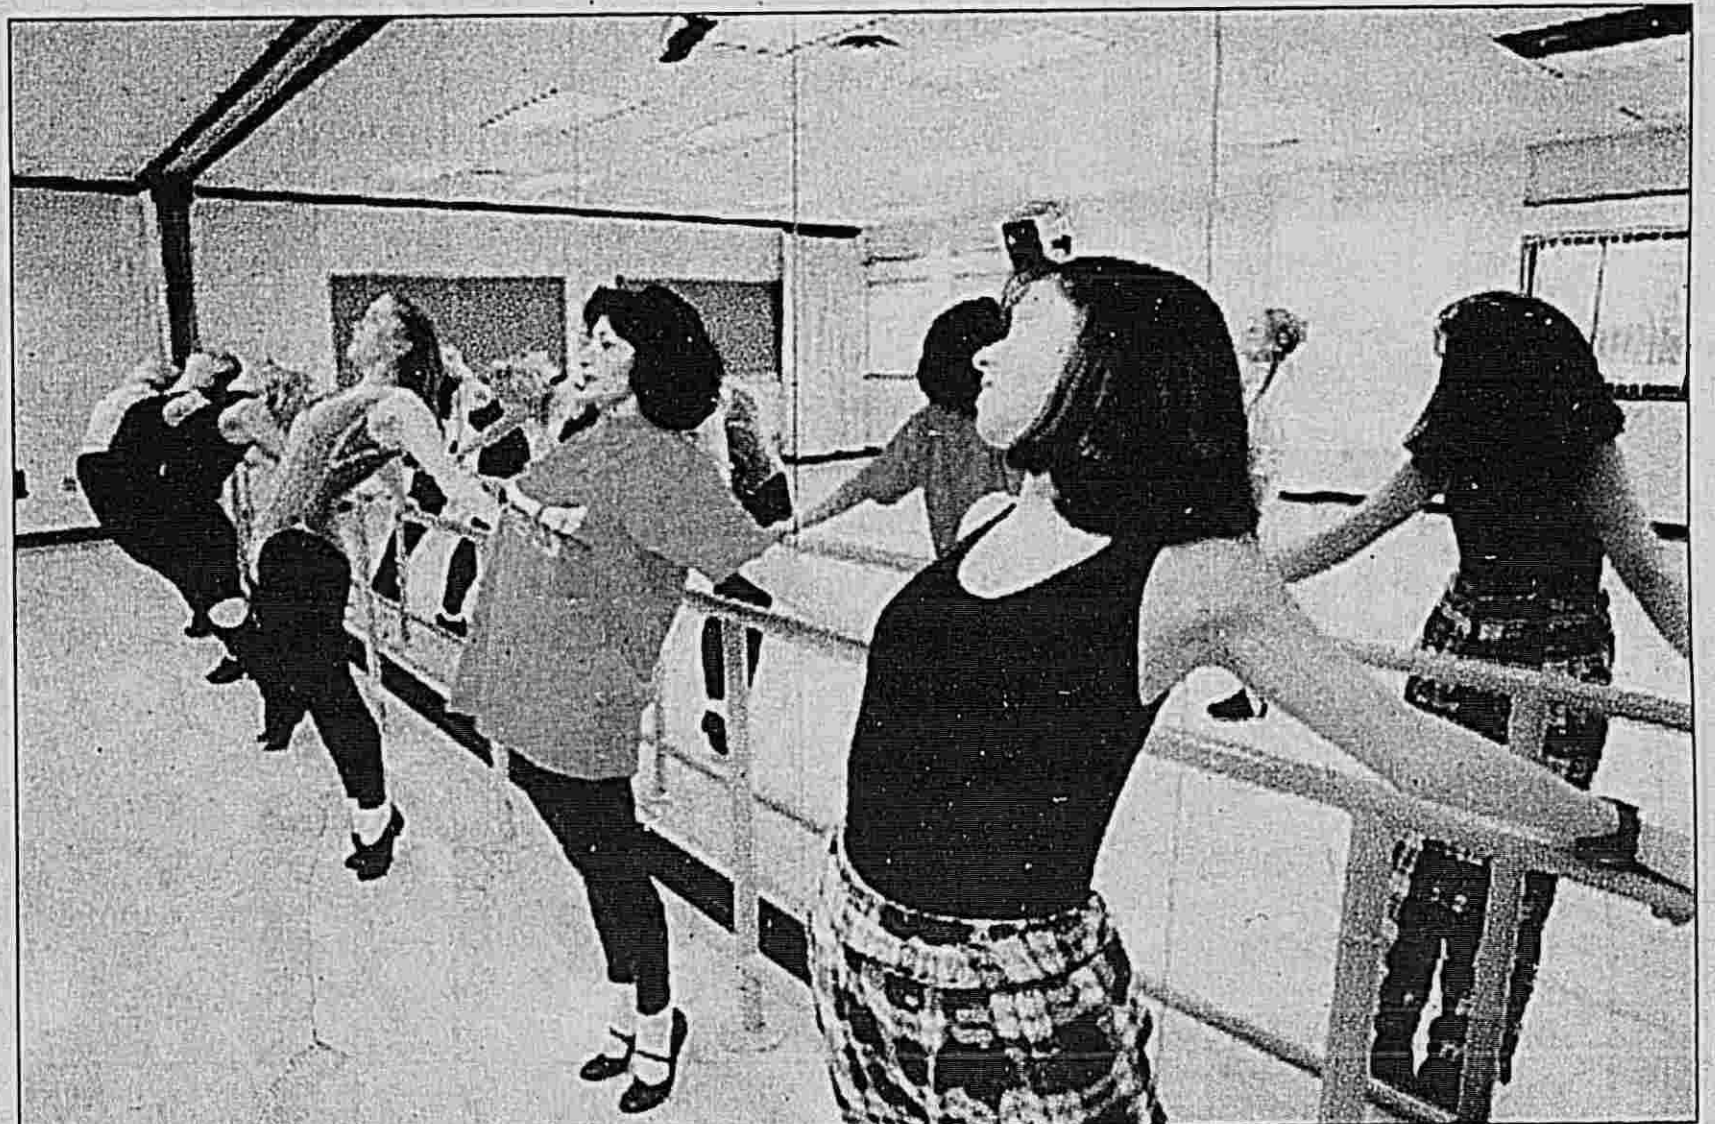

The Mainstage Theatre will echo with the stirring sounds of the Illinois Brass Band on March 14. Tickets for their 8 p.m. performance are $10. A different beat is scheduled there for March 15, when Dudley Moore is to perform with the Lake Forest Symphony beginning at 8 p.m. See BRVSSIMO page B11

Las Vegas At Sea

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

She's always dreamed of cruising the sunny Caribbean. He just can't wait to hit the tables in Vegas. (Or is it the other way around?)

Neither of you can get away for more than 3 or 4 days, and the budget's a little tight this year, so it looks like a cheap three day Vegas package is the only choice.

Not so.

Only a few years ago a three day cruise meant sailing on a small converted trans-atlantic passenger ship offering little more than a couple of slot machines and very amateurish shows.

Times have changed. Most of today's ships are as big as many of the largest resorts in Las Vegas and now offer full casinos.

For example, Carnival Cruise Lines ship, The Fantasy, which does three and four day sailings, has no less than 215 slots and 27 gaming tables including Blackjack, Craps, Red Dog, Roulette and Stud Poker. Lotteries, Bingo and many other games of chance are offered during the cruise.

Two professional full production Las Vegas Style Shows are offered nightly. Unlike Las Vegas, though, these shows are free.

The food may be cheap in Vegas, but on a cruise ship you can have eight meals a day, a midnight buffet and 24 hour room service, including breakfast in bed-all for free.

Casino hopping your thing? No problem since most 3 day cruises dock at Nassau, the home of the two largest casinos in the Caribbean. You can get to either by cab, but for some fun ask your travel agent how to get to the Crystal Palace on the Green Bus for a $1 or Paradise Island Casino via "Bum Boat" again for a buck.

So, how do we stay within a Vegas budget and still take a cruise? Actually, a three day cruise costs only about $30 a day more than the average three day Las Vegas package and your meals, entertainment and lots more are included free.

Dudley Moore

During Moore's more than 30-year entertainment career, the British-born performer has established himself as a stage actor, comedian, movie star, composer, pop musician and a jazz pianist. He became a popular celebrity in the United States with his leading roles in the comedy movie hits "10" and "Arthur," a role which won him a Golden Globe and an Academy Award nomination for best actor. He continued to demonstrate his unique comedic flair in numerous other popular feature films, including "Romantic Comedy," "Mickey and Maude" and "Like Father, Like Son."

Long before he became a successful actor, Moore was a musical prodigy who started out as a jazz musician and became a respected classical pianist. He began playing piano at age 6, studied violin at 12 and was a church organist at 14. His musical talent earned him a scholarship to attend Oxford University where he received a bachelor's degree in music and composition.

After a brief career on Broadway in "Beyond the Fringe," a satirical revue, Moore returned to music by traveling worldwide performing with the Dudley Moore Trio. Later he began performing as a guest artist with famous musicians and orchestras. Some of this memorable performances include an appearance with the Los Angeles Philharmonic for a Gershwin tribute, a concert at the New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art with violinist Robert Mann, a solo performance at Carnegie Hall and a performance at the Hollywood Bowl.

Moore scored his biggest musical triumph in 1991 when he joined forces with Conductor Sir Georg Solti for a 10-part music series that aired on the Showtime cable network. He completed a successful concert tour in England with the BBC Concert Orchestra, playing at the Royal Albert Hall in London as well as cities in Birmingham and Brighton.

Moore has recently been traveling internationally, performing classical pieces on the piano with prestigious orchestras and symphonies. For ticket information and reservations, call the CLC Foundation office at 223-6601, ext. 2488.

Coming soon—Stepford family values

When I picked up my Sunday paper two weeks ago, the strange headline immediately jumped out at me—"First Mammal is Cloned."

As you can imagine, I was shocked. I thought, "Excuse me, but where has respect for motherhood in this country gone? Is nothing sacred? Since when do we refer to Hillary Clinton as the 'First Mammal'?"

Fortunately, there was a picture inside with the rest of the article and as soon as I saw the curly white hair, I knew they weren't talking about Hillary. Barbara Bush, maybe, but not Hillary.

I knew this because, on closer inspection, one thing became obvious—I need an eye exam. Because it turns out that it wasn't Hillary or Barbara in the picture. It was a ewe.

And I'm not talking about a you. I mean "ewe"—as in "sheep." And here's the amazing part—this one ewe has now become two ewes, without any contributions whatsoever from a sheep of the male persuasion.

This is not to be confused with what we humans call a "deadbeat" Dad—there was no male sheep involved in the creation, admitted or otherwise. Instead, researchers in Scotland were able to successfully clone a lamb from a single cell of an adult ewe.

It does seem rather fitting that Scotland was the location for this achievement. I mean, heck, those guys have been wearing plaid skirts for centuries—there's obviously some major "mother envy" going on over there. So now they've come up with the perfect solution: if you can't give birth to 'em, clone 'em.

All of which makes me, as a member of the original birth-giving gender, a little nervous. If there is one thing that separates the women from the men, it is that, along with our ability to ask directions when we're lost, we are the only ones capable of growing a new life within our bodies.

DONNA ABEAR

As far as I know, the only life that men are capable of growing inside their bodies is a tape-worm. Even my dog can do that. (OK, I admit there are some men capable of growing beer bellies that look remarkably pregnant-like; however, I have yet to see one give birth to a 12-pack).

But now, with the first successful cloning of an adult sheep, the idea of cloning humans has moved from the pages of science fiction to a frightening possibility. And, having overheard the first male reactions to this event, we ladies are going to have to stay on our toes.

Shortly after the news broke, two of my male co-workers began discussing what they perceived as the benefits of cloning. "Think of it," said the first guy. "No more of that 'honey do this, honey, do that' stuff, because we would only clone women who believe the man should be king of his castle."

"You got that right," said the other. "And they'd all look like Christie Brinkley, too."

It figures, I thought. Give men a chance to create life, and next thing you know, we're the Stepford Wives. I had to set them straight.

"Oh, yeah?" And who says only men will be making the cloning decisions? For instance, if I had a choice between cloning Tom Cruise or one of you two 'kings,' the odds that I would clone you would be more like Mission Impossible."

"Oh, yeah? Well maybe we wouldn't clone any women at all. Maybe we'd just clone ourselves."

Hmmm. I had to think about that for a moment. But then I smiled.

"Really?" I said. "Really."

"All right, then—which one of you guys is going to breastfeed the baby?"

Silence. Relax, ladies—make that two things that separate the women from the men.

Editor's note: Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on WXL 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

-Movie Pick-
Nicholson, Caine make 'Wine'

Jack Nicholson

Jack Nicholson and Michael Caine have been around the film world for a long, long time, becoming two of the best actors ever to grace the big screen. It is their acting prowess that lifts "Blood and Wine" out of the mediocre mire its confusing script would have it sink into.

"Wine" has Nicholson, a businessman in big money trouble, getting mixed up in a gem heist in order to relieve that financial stress.

Caine plays a dying thief helping Nicholson in the theft of a diamond necklace.

A major portion of this movie spends time on the relationship between Nicholson and his stepson, expertly played by Stephen Dorff. Father and stepson are involved with the same girl, Nicholson's Cuban mistress played by Jennifer Lopez.

As the confusing plot evolves, filled with one too many twists, Dorff also gets involved in the robbery.

Judy Davis, again wastes her talents in mediocrity as she did in "Absolute Power," by playing Nicholson's alcoholic wife, a creature of little importance in this particular criminal scheme of things.

All these dark happenings take place in Florida's blazing sunlight. Nicholson, a wine-maker by trade, chooses to steal the necklace from one of his wealthy customers, who is also Lopez's boss.

Caine's safecracking expertise is the backbone of this plan.

Caine is responsible for a long line of film villains. This may be his best.

Meanwhile Nicholson retains control of the picture with the menacing intensity we have all grown to love.

Too bad this flick is not up to the talents of its cast.

We give "Blood and Wine," rated "R", 2.5 out of five stars.—

Dr. Singer offers help for child with a common fear

Dr. Singer,

My son is having a problem that I figure many kids probably have at one time or another so I decided to write this in to your column. He is 12 and in seventh grade. He is being required to do a speech in a speech class he has and is so terrified of it he is considering not going to school that day. Actually, I think he is also contemplating leaving the country! Since obviously, neither of these options are OK with myself and his dad, I was wondering if you have any words of wisdom on helping him to get over this fear? Thanks. M.G.

Dear M.G.

I saw a study one time that showed that people would prefer death and root canal to speaking in public! I was amazed by that study but also know what that feeling is. It might surprise you to know that a doctor, especially, one that regularly speaks to groups, can understand that feeling, but it is the absolute truth. I can completely understand your child's fear and trepidation over doing this and can remember those wonderful speech classes vividly. You probably can too. In fact, if you want to give your son something to not only laugh about, but be amazed about, tell him about how, for my sophomore year "How To" speech, I showed my entire English class how to disco dance!! I kid you not! And there were some really tough kids in that class. If I could do that, your son can do anything!

In answer to your question, there are ways to help someone to get a grip on this, however, it is difficult. I'll try my best here:

1.) Make sure you know first, that the good old, "try and see the audience in their underwear," doesn't usually work as well as we have been told.

Sometimes, there are some people there you really wouldn't want to see in their underwear and other times, it can make you feel downright embarrassed. What can work better is to help build up your son's confidence in himself. Make sure he knows that everyone else in the class is equally scared to do this.

Try and tell him stories (good ones) about when you and his dad did this.

2.) Try and make sure your son has a topic that interests him. If he is interested in the topic, chances are, there will be a natural flow to his talk and he will feel far better and more confident about it before, during and after.

If the child doesn't have the ability to pick the topic, you might want to have a private talk with his teacher to see if there is a way to allow that to happen so he doesn't panic. After all, school is preparatory for later life and most of the time as adults, when we speak to a group, we at least remotely enjoy the topic or are familiar with it through work. Why shouldn't he have the same advantage now?

3.) Try and help him organize his core outline so it's interesting. Help him to understand the importance of opening with 4.) Give him the old... "So what if you don't do great." Try and take the pressure off. He's worried about his grade, his reputation with kids and his future with these kids. People really

6.) Last but definitely not least, make sure your son is aware of the fact that everyone is afraid of speaking publicly. Some of us have mastered that fear better than others have, but it never goes away completely. He should know that this is a part of being human and that it's nothing to be ashamed of. He should also know that more of the kids that I knew at that age felt more compassion for the person talking than you would have thought, because it was their turn soon!

He's got to do this one for a grade, but if he doesn't like it to the level of intensity, he just won't choose to be a public orator in his future! Hope this is helpful! Tell your son-good luck from more!

humor (appropriate humor that is no "Beavis and Butthead.") The importance of engaging the audience... of not reading from note-cards.

NOTE: Tell him that when I go in and talk now, even to groups of 100 and more, I don't bring detailed note cards. I bring a list of important sketchy notes and then wing it, because I am able to be far more natural and fun that way.

Again, I enjoy the topic so that can happen! The same thing can happen for him if he enjoys the topic too! If he has fun with the talk, it will show through and the kids will really enjoy the talk. My disco dance was the scariest thing I ever took on at school, but boy did kids have fun with it and respect me afterwards! He might be surprised.

forget things fast. Even in Jr. High School. His mistakes are probably going to be more noticeable to him than anyone else in the room.

5.) Go out and get some books about stage fright or fear of public speaking. I know of a great one that is more geared toward adults, but there are definitely things in there that can apply to any age.

This book is called, "I Can See You Naked. A Fearless Guide to Making Great Presentations." It's by Ron Hoff. This is not a book that you would hand to him to read. This is more likely a book for you to read and pick out important parts that might help him.

The reason I say this is because the last thing your Jr. High Kid will want to do before a talk is more work!

Main St., a newly remodeled night-club, located at 225 Rte. 134 in Round Lake Park, has something for everyone in search of fun and amusement. The friendly and courteous staff at Main St. welcomes old and new customers, from the ages of 21 to 100 years young, to three attractive rooms where they can have a drink, meet the challenges of playing games, or enjoy a variety of live music and dancing. Making your

It's the place where a game of shuffleboard or darts is usually in progress. Then there's the main barroom filled with flowers and soft greenery, where one can lay back and enjoy good friends in a feel-good atmosphere. An extremely large stage and dance floor is the place where its happening every Friday and Saturday evening. On Friday some of the most popular local country bands play their music and line dancers, as well as two-step fanciers, crowd the roomy dance floor. On Saturday, the joint is rockin' with slow and fast live music from the '50s to some of today's favorite songs. The music and dancing can be seen and heard throughout the club. Delicious snacks, pizza and hot popcorn from the popcorn machine will add to the enjoyment. A variety of hot appetizers will be available in the near future. Look for more theme parties and special events, including the opening of our open air beer garden in June. On Saturday, the joint is rockin' with slow and fast live music from the '50s to some of today's favorite songs. The music and dancing can be seen and heard throughout the club.

Delicious snacks, pizza and hot popcorn from the popcorn machine will add to the enjoyment. A variety of hot appetizers will be available in the near future. Look for more theme parties and special events, including the opening of our open air beer garden in June.

Main St. is closed on Mondays; open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 3 p.m. to closing and from 3 p.m. to 3 a.m. every Friday and Saturday. Sunday hours are from 11 a.m. to closing. Free pool tables are offered on Sunday. For more information, call (847) 740-4625.

Horoscope

Aries - March 21/April 20
Don't get frustrated if you hit some unexpected bumps at work. Think creatively, and you'll discover that there's more than one way to skin a cat. Has your ear been ringing lately? Looks like you're the topic of discussion at work this week. Play your cards right, and a promotion could be near.

Taurus - April 21/May 21
A serious discussion with a loved one will make you realize something good about yourself. You'll discover that sometimes you have to take a step back in order to forge ahead. Single? Good news! A new romance may be on the way. Be sure to look your best this coming weekend.

Gemini - May 22/June 21
Be true to yourself — and others — this week. Don't make promises you can't keep. In fact, try not to say anything you're not absolutely certain of, or you could get yourself into trouble. A friend's good news will be the cause for celebration this weekend. Watch your spending this weekend, too.

Cancer - June 22/July 22
Caught in a rut? Pull yourself out by doing something you've always wanted to try. Don't be afraid to make a change. Overcome frustrations with a loved one by expressing your feelings. Be honest about your feelings, and try to be kind in your approach. A Libra is involved.

Leo - July 23/August 23
A heated argument could lead you to say something you'll regret. Hurtful words could leave long-lasting scars. Tasks left until the last minute may be laced with mistakes. An organized approach is what you need. At work, be sure to give credit where credit is due. A major change is looming.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22
Don't be generous with other people's money. Presumptuous actions cause hard feelings. A promotion at work is likely. An associate's blunder will end up benefiting you. On Friday, you'll find yourself in the right place at the right time. Be strong when it comes to love.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23
A loved one's harsh words should be taken with a grain of salt. Don't let words said in anger get you down. Instead, take a look at the big picture. A break in routine will be a refreshing change. New faces and new places will stimulate your creativity. If you work under deadline pressure, this could be a week to implement a more organized approach.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22
Take the first step in accomplishing a long-term goal. You'll find that taking action gives you a sense of control. You'll be happy with what you initiated. Strapped for cash? A careful evaluation of cash flow is probably necessary. Be realistic when it comes to budgeting.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21
Take care of routine matters before moving on to more ambitious projects at work. An organized schedule will be necessary to get everything accomplished. A younger family member will call on you for advice. Be sure to give an unbiased opinion. New love could be on the way.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20
Don't let a period of doubt and uncertainty damage a good relationship. A heart-to-heart conversation will probably help clear things up. Your social life may be on the rise, but don't get carried away. Too many late nights could affect your health. Be sure to get plenty of rest.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18
This week, you may find yourself reflecting on the past. A mistake you made some time ago will serve as a guideline for today. A period of confusion could hurt a love relationship. Take some time to figure out what you really want. A social event turns out to be more fun than anticipated.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20
Everything seems to fall into place. You'll feel as if luck has finally found you. This is an ideal time to implement change. You'll feel confident to reach for what you want. Do you deserve a promotion? Well, don't be afraid to go in and ask for one. Reach for the stars this week!

Roses bring beauty to the garden Bravissimo

I have always loved roses. My grandmother tended them, my mother and sister grow them. My uncle used to propagate them through the method of grafting. I still have a "Tropicana" that he started 30 years ago.

Would you like to have a rose garden? There are many varieties of roses. The hybrid teas produce large flowers usually one on a long stem. Grandifloras produce the same large flowers, but in clusters. Rugosa shrub roses are valued for their hardiness, healthiness and ability to thrive in adverse conditions. Floribundas are noted for their permanence, continuity of bloom and ease of culture.

No shrub can match them for floral display both in amount of bloom, and for their lengthy blooming period. The miniature fairy rose is vigorous, disease resistible, has dark green foliage and production of numerous flowers and a long blooming season. The old shrub roses, the favorites of Victorian gardens, are unmatched for their fragrance, romantic colors and freedom of bloom.

Roses need at least five hours of sun each day, and should be protected from wind and planted away from other plants with vigorous root systems. They do take work, but the results are worth it. Roses need rich, loamy soil full of humus and need to be fed reg-

Whether you buy bare root roses or container roses you should dig a hole at least 18 inches deep and 2 feet wide. Be careful not to damage the roots at planting. If you purchase bare root stock from a gardening center, soak the roses in water to which you have added a bit of bleach (to kill any bacteria) overnight. At planting time add plenty of organic material to the hole and fertilizer and water well.

Roses need to be pruned every spring early April is a good time for this task. Invest in a good, sharp pruning tool as you definitely will need one. Make your cuts at a 45 degree angle about 1/4 inch above a swelling bud eye, facing outward from the center of the bush. Pruning is essential for healthy plants.

Choosing to care for roses can be most rewarding and will bring you pleasure for years to come. You can order the "Handbook for Selecting Roses," published by the American Rose Society by sending $5 and a self-addressed stamped envelope to American Rose Society, Box 3000, Shreveport, LA 71130-0030 ularly. Start feeding plants in April. One award winning rose gardener feeds his roses the following formula: 1/2 cup slow release nitrogen, 1 teaspoon urea, 1 teaspoon chelated iron and 1/2 cup Epsom salts for the initial feeding. Then as the season progresses apply urea, chelated iron and Epsom salts every three weeks until August when feeding stops. In June or July he recommends using a fish emulsion fertilizer in between granular feedings.

Tickets for the concert are $100; $200 includes admission to a reception following the performance.

The wind ensemble will be back onstage at 7 p.m., March 16, for a free performance of classical and popular pieces.

Footwork fans will enjoy the Joel Hall Dancers for two performances in the Mainstage Theatre, March 19. "The Crossing" celebrates the musical heritage of the African-American community. Tickets for the public are $6 for the 2 p.m. performance and $12 for the evening show that begins at 7:30 p.m.

Leslie Hopkins, founder of "Prairie Spirit Dance Theatre" at CLC, recalled having to move chairs and dance on carpet before a genuine studio provided a hardwood floor, mirrors and curtains. Her students, she said, range in age from 8 to 50-something and share enthusiasm along with a love of dance.

Facilities superintendent Mike Anthony pointed out the energy-saving features of the room.

"We've installed occupancy sensors to control light and temperature; it adds up to a lot," he said. "We've improved the functionality and we've done it very efficiently."

Prairie Spirits students are already preparing for "Behold!" in May, said Hopkins. "It's dedicated to different aspects of the Lake County community," she explained.

An experimental "black box" theater features flexible seating for up to 120 people, and a simple lighting and sound system students can work without a great deal of experience, said Bronner.

"Hopefully down the line we will have student-produced shows," said theater coordinator Eibhlin Glennon. "It's a wonderful space for working."

A scene shop also serves as a classroom for stage craft, and room for costume storage and design provides not only laundry facilities and sewing machines but new potential for instruction. Instead of contracting with an outside source for the design and construction of costumes, the department can provide their own labor and resources. "It's something theater people need to learn," said Bronner.

A make-up room is bordered by a counter with 20 stations. It is separate from the dressing area and can be used by large companies that come to perform at CLC.

"It's designed as a classroom concept," said theater instructor Bob Coscarelli. "It's more closely related to academic theater where students learn about various aspects of make-up."

The dressing rooms (one male, one female) are equipped with make-up areas as well, along with complete toilet and shower facilities and lockers.

"This has everything we are going to need for musicals and road shows," said Bronner. "There is such a potential for students and for the public."

Hosts sought for 'Up With People' staff, performers

Local families and individuals are sought to host young men and women from the internationally acclaimed group "Up With People" in March and April. "Up With People" will perform two shows at Stevenson High School on Saturday, April 19.

Four "Up With People" staff members will arrive in the area March 19 to help promote the concerts and coordinate group activities, and will depart April 20.

The team comprises three women and one man whose ages range from 21 to 26. All four speak English. Host families are expected to provide separate rooms if they wish to host more than one advance team member. In addition, hosts should provide breakfast and dinner. The advance team will provide its own transportation. If interested in hosting, call Jim Conrey at 634-4000, ext. 276.

To order tickets for one of April 19 performances, call 634-4000, ext. 300.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (847) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Report it

Response to Neighbor in Antioch, who has drug dealing information. If you have such information, you should of called the cops by now. They are drug dealing, they are near a school. You don't need to wait a week. Report.

Sleepy town, Mayberry

Lake Villa wants to build a McDonalds on Rte.83 and Grand, they are already considering a hospital on this same intersection within the year. Its already too congested. Police already have to assist traffic from the industrial park. Village boards want to see a grocery store there. After it's totally jammed up then the state can justify a 4- or 6-lane expansion. Does Lake Villa need this? Tell your leaders, I urge you, or we won't have a sleepy little town anymore. Stop the McDonald's they want to build, it'll be too much.

Reassurance

I wanted to let Mayor Davis know not to worry about voters, because this voter is voting for Schrimpf. The water bills weren't this high when he was in office. What's going on around here?

How could you?

How can you let Lipservice continue to make claims against their neighbors, when there is no proof. I can't sit and watch this any longer. All anonymously. Lipservice isn't news, its garbage, not journalism. It's irresponsible gossip and rumors that's at the root of all problems that are in our society today.—John Smith, Smith Engineering, McHenry

How much?

To the anti-hunter in Antioch, how much money do you give to the animal conservationists to support the animals?

Stop crying.

Local Mundelein restaurant: take down your signs asking for a liquor license. We do need a quality restaurant. Focus on quality and a good pricing and you won't need the license. I'm not a Mayor Sindles fan, but she was right on the mark on this one.

Shame on you

Shame on Island Lake mayor and friends. We wonder, what else are you doing?

Gambling vote

Publish the Partners of the Gambling vote. Who are the corporations, directors, who are behind this big push for the gambling vote. We need to know both sides of who these people are who are moving into our community.

Use the lumberyard

To Grant Township and officials of Fox Lake: Why don't you buy the old lumberyard in center of the town and put the township office there with the other little offices so they would be convenient to all. Maybe the post office too.

We won't go for liars

Voters won't go for liars. You'll see in the April 1st election. As the saying goes, If you can't take the heat, stay out of the kitchen.

Minuteman

At the Lincoln Day Celebration the mayor gave you a new name. Congratulations to Minuteman! Nice to see you're so close friends with mayor. It could come in handy. Good Luck.

To citizen with guts

To the neighbor in Antioch. Others are also aware of the drug dealing. We hope to see an article from you in Lipservice that you are OK since you fear your life and safety as we do, afraid if we put our names on the report.

History lesson

I think many of the people in this country need a history lesson. First the Indians were here, and then the Spanish came up through Mexico, settled California, Florida, and much of the mid-west, Colorado, etc. Not the Hispanic that settled these areas, but Spanish. Though there were some from Mexico, but a great number of them were from Spain.

Tripping

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all the "Mr. Russels" in the nation would devote more of their time to police and fire departments as well as school and library districts? In their quest for media attention in upcoming elections, they seem to trip over their own feet.

Congrats Grayslake

I'd like to congratulate the Grayslake Park District in the baseball movement, on the fine job they've done on screwing up Avon's baseball program. Grayslake had no intention on looking out for the kids of the area, their sole hidden agenda. After try outs, the truth is finally out! Avon Baseball will welcome those kids who are not accepted in Grayslake program, and will be stronger, and grow from this action.

Thank you all!

We are the parents of the young man who had the snowmobile accident in Fox Lake. We will try to answer much of the cards and letters to those who showed their concern and support. We want to especially thank the kids from school and his friends. We hope he will be able to thank you himself soon. We want you to know how much it helped turn a corner for us to those of you in the community. We will write to each of you personally but it may take some time.

Speed limits

At a village board meeting I attended on Feb. 10, I asked a question of why the speed limit in Fox Lake was reduced to 35mph from 40mph. No one came forward. It was the Rainier Woods subdivision, not the park to be, by State Bank of the Lakes. Isn't it the real reason Mr. Pappas is running in the election?

Support our kids

Whether you're pro-choice or anti-abortion, support family planning. There's millions of children sleeping on streets in the world who deserve a life too. Call your senators, support family planning. Care about the children that are already here.

Seven in charge

We live in a delightful area that used to be an RV Park, but it now has permanent residents. We enjoy the beauty of our tiny Lake Sullivan, where the rules and regulations date back to its start. We have a board of seven, who have jockeyed themselves into position to spend and not ask the general population of the park on spending. They make decisions that are not practical. Can these seven be the only intelligent people to decide for us?

Disabled are able

I resent the commercials for the disabled. There are many successful disabled people in this world. Attorneys, wake up. This is wrong.

Summer help

I run a summer business. Thank you for organizing the project for the summer youth job expo. Lakelands' "At a glance" column reported the information. It ran at Beach Park village hall. I was able to hire a dozen teens. Barbara Braim organized this and was instrumental. Very well done. You all deserve a lot of credit.

Another subject

This is in regard to the mention on Feb. 28 of the debate between Mayor Lumber and Patrick Smythe in Round Lake. How about adding the topic of Arrow Lake subdivision? I think it's time we get a new voice in Round Lake!

Earth to Myers

Who does this guy think he is? In his first public appearance, he goes on public record lying. Then he tells everyone to look at his yuppie home page. Admit it, Dirk, you're a Schrimpf lackey who's trying to steal votes from Davis. Get real!

Plan, plan

Looking at the mayor's race in Mundelein, I hope the voters can see the difference between someone with "envisionment" and someone with a vision and plan for the future. The current administration seems to be planning for the future. The challengers say they couldn't be involved with Mundelein because they didn't have the time and didn't know who to call. Great excuses. If they win, will they use these excuses again? No one plans to fail, but many fail because they simply didn't plan.

Overreacted

Is it possible that our Fox Lake fire department has overreacted just slightly with the acid spill on Route 12 and Grand? Do we call for mutual aid from other departments every time there's a car accident and the battery case is ruptured, leaking acid on the ground? Who is responsible for that fiasco?

Help each other

I was one of the representatives and volunteers that worked with LifeSource to give blood during the recent project. I wish the community could have shown this project more support. This was for three kids from this area. Let's help out each other.

Be concerned

What we should really be concerned about is what the Pledge of Allegiance says, "And justice for all." What it really should say is, "And innocence for those who can buy it," i.e. O.J. Simpson, Woody Allen and Michael Jackson. That we should really be concerned about.

Concentrate on us

About the proposed Antioch waterfront hotel, Antioch village officials would do well to concentrate on the well-being of the residents in the town and township without bringing more problems and weekenders to our already overcrowded town and waterway. It would be adverse to the existing motels and other rental properties. Boats and trailers would be filled and refilled with gas at stations on the road instead of marinas. The hotel off-season business would not be enough to justify building it in the first place. Boat slips and ramp fees would also suffer during the short summer season.

Keep format

I'm calling about cable TV, specifically US Cable. I just finished reading the Sunday Sun-Times of Feb. 16 and it mentions surveys. I can't remember the last time US Cable had a survey, so I'm giving you my opinion. Generally we like the current lineup and the channels you have now. I've seen some of the new channels and feel they're not necessary, just a re-hash of what's already on. We like the Comedy Channel, Nickelodeon, and AMC. Don't change a thing, we like what you've got now and the format is pretty good.

Managed care plans can't afford to skimp on quality

SHERMAN M. WOLFF

Although managed care health plans have been around for decades, there is currently more discussion about them than ever before. Much of the public discourse is focused on the quality of the health care delivered through these plans versus controlling the cost of health care. Critics assume that managed care health plans can't achieve one without sacrificing the other.

At a recent seminar sponsored by Blue Cross, nationally respected health care policy expert Professor Alain Enthoven, noted that quality is quickly becoming a key factor in employers' health care purchasing decisions. In just the last couple of years, large employers have joined together to study the quality of the health plans serving their employees. In industries that compete for talented employees, the quality of a company's health care plan is extremely important.

Individual consumers are also becoming more informed about health plans. They are now better able to access the information they need to make health plan purchasing or enrollment decisions. Independent agencies, like the National Committee for Quality Assurance, are using standardized criteria to measure the quality of health plans and they are reporting their results through a variety of media including the Internet.

From a purely business perspective, it makes sense for a health plan to constantly strive to improve the quality of the health care delivered. That's why the better managed care plans spend a great deal of time, effort and money in selecting the best physicians, hospitals and other providers for their managed care networks. That's why managed care providers are monitored for the quality of their patient care.

That's why the member of managed care plans are frequently surveyed for their opinions on the quality of the care they are receiving. And that's why managed care plans place an emphasis on preventive care to keep people well.

Most well-run managed care plans are genuinely concerned with providing quality health care because it's the right thing to do. But it's important to note that there are also sound bottom-line business reasons for managed care plans to continually improve quality. Even the most cynical person can see that actions that would reduce quality in a health plan would be extremely shortsighted.

And in health care, as in other fields, short-sighted actions usually result in short-lived companies.

Increased competition means that high-quality health care is essential to the long-term success of a managed care health plan. And taking the long view is the hallmark of major health insurers like Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois. It's not accident that we've been around for more than 60 years.

Editor's note: Sherman M. Wolff is senior vice president and chief financial officer of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

New era in diagnostic technology dawns at MRI

Since opening its doors in 1992, the Magnetic Resonance Institute of Lake County has been committed to meeting the diagnostic needs of area physicians and their patients.

With the new installation of the General Electric Signa Horizon LX MRI system, which is one of only two such units in the nation, continues that commitment. It provides area physicians with an expanded list of diagnostic procedures due to its increased imaging capabilities.

"With this technology," says Robert Breit, MD., institute medical director, "we can provide diagnostic options to area physicians which were not available in the past. Plus, the resolution and clarity of the images achieved are better than those provided by other MRI technologies."

MRI's are used to provide "pictures" of the body to assist physicians in diagnosing disease. They can be used for a broad range of imaging, including viewing head, neck, heart, lung, jaw, back, abdomen, arteries, all joints, etc.

Patient comfort is a primary concern of the institute's staff, according to Joe Coil, executive director. "This new magnet is designed to help patients be more relaxed during the procedure," says Coil.

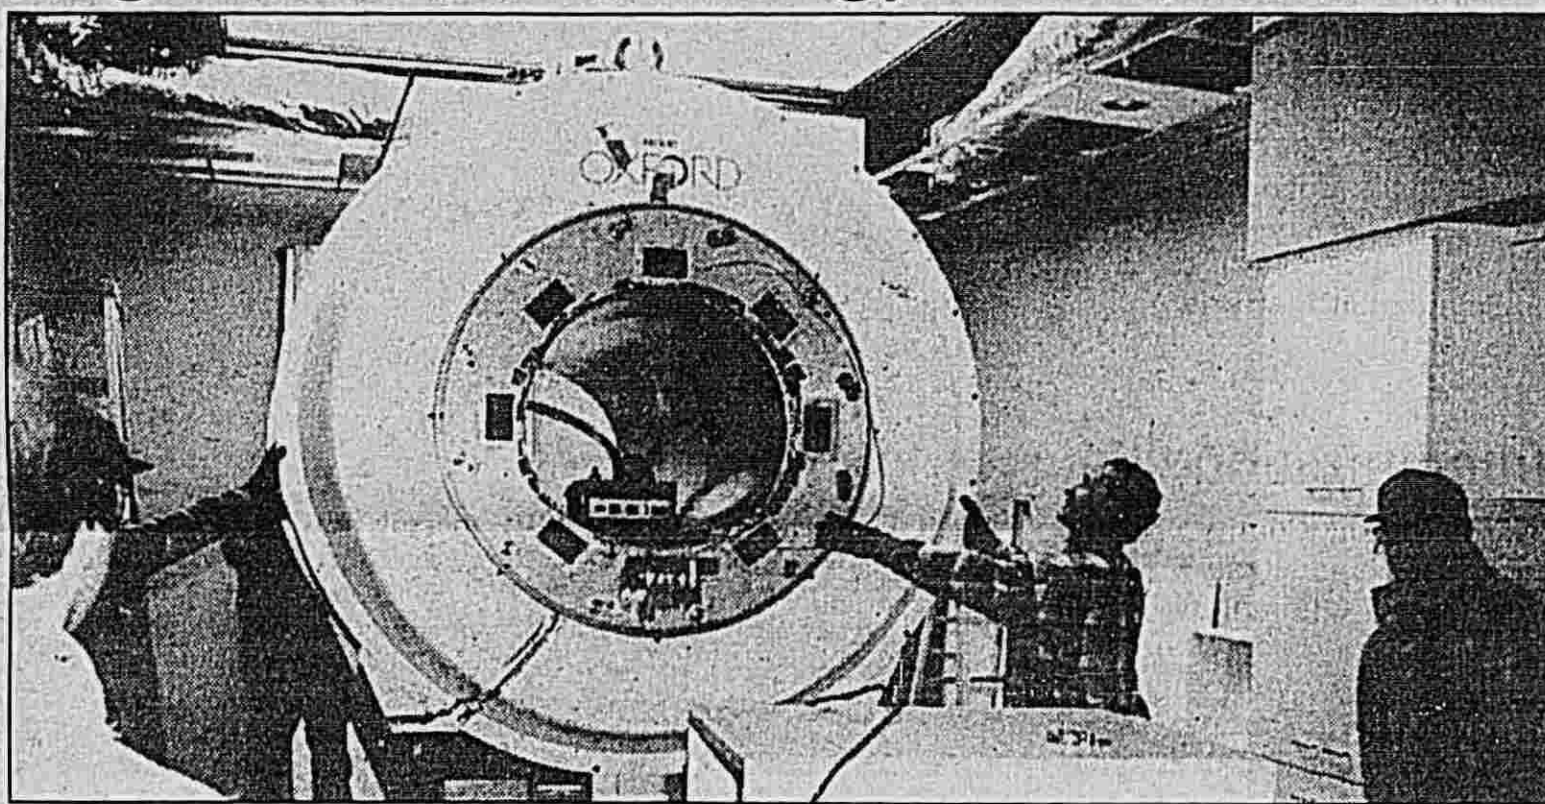

The magnet includes a larger opening than incorporated in earlier designs. And, the built-in intercom system allows for easy voice contact with the technologist during the procedure. There is also a music system which allows patients to listen to their favorite CD's and tapes. In addition, the institute offers a conscious I.V. sedation treatment to medically calm patients if required.

Victory Memorial receives award

Victory Memorial Hospital and three members of its staff have been recognized by the board of directors of the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center, Waukegan.

Tim Harrington, Victory Memorial Hospital president, was presented with the center's Community Support Award, in recognition of the hospital's support of the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center and the hospital's "outstanding initiative to protect all children."

Individual awards for outstand-

Dwarfed by a powerful new magnet, technicians install the new technology at the Magnetic Resonance Institute of Lake County in Gurnee. The new magnet provides a variety of new diagnostic opportunities for area physicians.

"For the convenience of patients who may require additional diagnostic testing, we have added a full-range of diagnostic services at our convenient location," says Coil.

In addition to MRI's, patients can also be scheduled for general x-rays, screening and diagnostic mammograms, and medical laboratory tests at the institute.

"These new services allow our patients to complete many procedures while here, saving them time," says Coil.

The Magnetic Resonance Institute of Lake County is staffed by board certified radiologists who specialize in MRI technology and ARRT registered technologists, certified in MRI, mammography and general x-ray.

The institute is located at 60 S. Greenleaf St., Gurnee. Convenient appointments for MRI procedures are available between 6:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays. Other services are available between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Astigmatism is most often caused by distortion or an irregularity of the cornea, the front surface of the eye. With normal, undistorted vision, the cornea is smooth and equally curved in all directions. When astigmatism is present, the cornea is "warped" and it curves more in one direction than the other. In other words, the cornea is shaped more like a football than a basketball.

The effect of astigmatism is to change vision like that seen when looking in a mirror with a wavy surface...similar to the funhouse mirrors that make you look too tall, too wide or too thin. Astigmatism is usually inherited, may be present at birth, and frequently remains unchanged during a lifetime. Small amounts of astigmatism are very common and do not always require correction.

Periodic eye examinations are the best way to preserve comfortable, good vision. Call us for an appointment.

A Nutrition Research Study at Cancer Treatment Centers of America at Midwestern Regional Medical Center

Diet Modification and Breast Cancer:
The Women's Intervention Nutrition Study (WINS) is recruiting 2,500 women to participate.

You may be eligible if you:

- Are age 48 to 78
- Had surgery for localized invasive breast cancer in the past year
- Take Tamoxifen (Nolvadex) or treated with chemotherapy or both

The National Cancer Institute and the American Health Foundation are sponsors of the WINS study at cancer centers nationwide. This study will investigate whether or not changing what you eat plays a role in breast cancer recurrence.

It's free to join.

All women who qualify to participate will have their current diet analyzed by a nutritionist and will be randomly assigned to one of two diet groups. If you would like to find out whether or not you qualify for the study, please speak to your doctor or call Cancer Treatment Centers of America at Midwestern Regional Medical Center at 1-800-268-0786.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Astigmatism is most often caused by distortion or an irregularity of the cornea, the front surface of the eye. With normal, undistorted vision, the cornea is smooth and equally curved in all directions. When astigmatism is present, the cornea is "warped" and it curves more in one direction than in the other. In other words, the cornea is shaped more like a football than a basketball.

The effect of astigmatism is to change vision like that seen when looking in a mirror with a wavy surface...similar to the funhouse mirrors that make you look too tall, too wide or too thin. Astigmatism is usually inherited, may be present at birth, and frequently remains unchanged during a lifetime. Small amounts of astigmatism are very common and do not always require correction.

Periodic eye examinations are the best way to preserve comfortable, good vision. Call us for an appointment.

Glucosamine

Maintaining healthy joints is an important consideration to anyone suffering from arthritis. Glucosamine, an amino sugar derived from the shells of crustaceans, has been shown to be beneficial to the maintenance of these joint structures. Research conducted in Milan, Italy concluded that patients suffering from severe osteoarthritis experienced significantly less pain when treated with glucosamine and that it actually helped to rebuild damaged cartilage. In his recently heralded book, "The Arthritis Cure", Dr. Jason Theodosakis recommends using Glucosamine with Chondroitin sulfate, as a Nutritional Support for the 35 million Americans who suffer from this degenerative disease. Dovanti, A., et al. "Therapeutic Activity of Oral Glucosamine Sulfate in Osteoarthritis: A Placebo-Controlled Double-Blind Investigation." Clinical Therapeutics 3(4):266-272, 1980.

County food drive to fill pantry shelves

The Lake County Food Resource Council and volunteers across Lake County are busy making last minute preparations for the 10th Annual Lake County Food Drive, scheduled for March 8 through 15. The Food Resource Council is a nonprofit group of volunteers from county soup kitchens, food pantries and citizens at large. This food drive is unique in that all food collected will remain in Lake County. All food is distributed immediately after the drive to qualified soup kitchens and food pantries.

The Northeast Council, Boy Scouts of America, is again co-sponsoring the drive with the Lake County Food Resource Council, as they have for the past eight years. Additional co-sponsors are Browning Ferris (BFI) Industries and the Lake County Life Underwriters Association.

Each year, county churches, synagogues and civic groups collect food donations to fill county food pantry and soup kitchen shelves. Currently, shelves in many food pantries have been all but emptied due to increased demand for food because of the harsh winter. Lake County citizens are asked to open their hearts and cupboards, and share their excess with those less fortunate. The 1996 drive netted 75,000 pounds (35 tons) of food from community schools and groups. Corporate food drive collections will continue to be in the fall.

Lake County Superintendent of Schools, Ed Gonwa, has encouraged county schools to participate in the food drive. Each year there is intense competition between schools to collect the most food. First place in 1996 went to Half Day School, which collected 3,400 pounds. In second place was Round Lake Village School with 2,400 pounds, followed by Avon School in Round Lake with 1,750 pounds of food.

To encourage participation in the drive, Boy Scouts will hang 110,000 plastic food drive bags on doors throughout the county. They will hang the bags, donated by BFI, between Saturday, March 8 and Thursday, March 13. Saturday, March 15, the Boy Scouts will collect the bags and deliver them to the sorting site.

The Lake County Farm Bureau is typical of many groups that support the food drive. This year, each child attending the Ag Expo, scheduled for March 19 to 21 at the Lake County Fair Grounds, is asked to bring a food item to donate to the drive. The "Prime Timers," a group of active seniors, also plan to donate food to the drive at their March 13 meeting. In addition, the Farm Bureau Women's Committee is providing a drop-off box at the Farm Bureau for food donations.

This year, the food drive committee is asking that groups and individuals not contacted by the Scouts, but wishing to support the drive, drop off the food at the sorting site. Food will be sorted again this year in the former Builder's Square building in Waukegan. The location is three blocks east of Green Bay Road on Belvidere Road. See FOOD DRIVE page C2

Soil, Water election challenge downed

Non-eligible voters, district boundaries under scrutiny

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

A challenge to the election at the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District appears to have been shot down by the Attorney General's Office in Springfield.

Local activist Kim Eudy, of Ingleside, filed a letter of challenge to the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District election held Feb. 11, on the grounds that non-eligible voters were allowed to cast ballots.

The informal opinion was issued by Michael T. Luke of the Attorney General's office, March 5. The Attorney General's office is representing the Lake County Soil and Water District on the matter.

Eudy challenged the election based on the fact the soil and water conservation district boundaries are difficult to understand and that voters are allowed to present themselves on the "honor system" without verification of addresses.

According to a spokesperson from the Attorney General's office, the statutory requirements in the matter indicate that a letter of complaint doesn't necessitate a challenge to the election results.

The Attorney General's office spokesperson declined to be quoted in the matter, saying as the attorney representing the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District it would be inappropriate for him to be quoted. Director of the Soil and Water Conservation District Sharon Buckridge, however, was unavailable to comment on the issue.

The issuance of the opinion means, however, that Dave Richards and Otto Sprenger, who were elected Feb. 11, will now be seated as directors on the five-member board.

The issue of clearly understanding the district's boundaries has long been debated by the district, according to former director Sandy Cole of Grayslake. Cole served from 1994-1996 and resigned along with Al Westerman, when both were elected to the Lake County Board.

"During the two years I was on the board, we asked an attorney to look at whether or not the district could change its boundaries to include all of Lake County," Cole said. "We received differing opinions on the matter."

According to the Illinois Department of Agriculture, the issue of altering the boundaries would have to be taken to the state legislature.

"The boundaries were established by law," said Patrick Hogan, spokesman for the Department of Agriculture. "In some districts around the state, See CHALLENGE page C2

Education is key to preventing gangs

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

Gang activity may have risen in Lake County in the last five years, but, according to two experts, the rise in activity doesn't present a real threat to Lake County businesses and citizens.

Det. Carlos Perez and Det. Larnell Farmer of the Waukegan Police Department Gang Suppression Unit spoke to Lake County business leaders on the subject of street gangs at the monthly power breakfast, March 5.

"There are currently about 50 gangs operating in Lake County," Farmer said. "These gangs have grown from those in Chicago, but do not operate at the level of intensity that they do in the city."

The detectives told business leaders gang members rarely bring their affiliation with them to the work place, but through education of gang symbols and colors, employers can take steps to prevent gang activity from occurring on their premises.

"Employers can do what schools have done very successfully by enacting dress codes," said Perez, who added that strict dress codes in area high schools such as Waukegan have limited gang activity from occurring within the school.

"They have very good security at Waukegan High and a strict policy of no-tolerance for gang activity that is working very well," Perez said.

Both Farmer and Perez agreed that media images, particularly in the movies, attract teens to gang activities.

"In the movies and the media, gang activity gets a lot of attention and praise," Perez said. "No one ever dies because of their See GANGS page C2

Forum to help adolescents, parents cope with violent society

A community forum, entitled "How Adolescents Are Affected by A Violent Society," is scheduled for Saturday, March 9 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Round Lake public Library auditorium.

One in a series of public forums co-sponsored by LaCASA, the Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault (a non-profit organization which helps sexual assault survivors) and A SAFE PLACE (Lake County's only domestic physical violence shelter). This event is open to all Lake County residents and expected to draw participants from all over the region.

According to LaCASA spokesperson, Jane Hunter, this community forum is aimed at promoting understanding of how adolescent children are impacted by a violent society and abuse. "Awareness and communication, both at the interpersonal and community levels, are the keys to combating sexual violence and abuse," said Hunter, Coordinator of Community Education for LaCASA.

The forum will begin with a panel discussion featuring:

- Hameedah Carr, Child Services Counselor for LaCASA.
- Esther Barmak, Children's Counselor for A Safe Place.
- Dr. Donald Sherwood, a private therapist

- other community leaders and advocates

Following the panel discussion, attendees are encouraged to voice their observations and opinions, or raise questions on child safety, advocacy, and personal rights. "Our focus with this forum is to help adults communicate with children and understand the impact of what they way and do," said Esther Bramak of A Safe Place. "This forum will help lay the groundwork for ongoing discussions to help adolescents develop healthy relationships with their family, neighbors, and peers."

Challenge

because of the growth since the late 1950s, the district boundaries have become vague. But it is a matter of law."

The Soil and Water Conservation Districts throughout the state were established in 1957. At that time, existing municipalities and platted subdivisions in Lake County made a choice whether or not to be a part of the district.

Those long-ago decisions affect today's Lake County homeowners who find it difficult to understand why or why not they are within the district's boundaries. The determination to vote in the election is based on soil and water conservation district employees checking an individual's address against a land-use map from the late 1950s.

The mission of the soil and water district is to preserve the natural resources and protect soil and water conservation.

Anytime there is a proposed land use change, whether it is an individual home owner or a developer, a natural resources information report for the property is required before the plat approval process is completed. This informational report is prepared by the county soil and water conservation district.

The reports point out sites on the property which are sensitive such as the location of existing wells, field tiles and natural resources such as trees, wetlands and other items.

"It is an advisory report that makes recommendations such as 'this property should have limitations for the number of basements'," said Cole. "The majority of people who use the soil and water district to obtain these reports are consultants for developers." The district also provides aerial photographs from the early 1900s and other information necessary for the plat approval process.

"Last year usage numbers indicated that approximately two-thirds of the individuals using the services of the district were developers," Cole said.

New role

One of the issues driving the recent board of directors election was the signing of a new contract by the soil and water conservation district with the Army Corps of Engineers to issue 404 permits and do follow-up visits on such permits.

"What this involves is having a local agency check back sites for erosion control methods," said Cole. The 404 permit involves the mitigation of wetlands on 1-acre or less sites with the need for soil erosion and sediment control. This involves a land owner meeting with a soil and water district resources conservationist for a site review so that the developer knows what is expected of them.

"The types of recommendations made by the resource conservationist involve the placement of silt fences, straw bales and erosion control blankets, which are very simple measures," Cole said. "These are measures that benefit the developer and the nearby land owner."

The Army Corps of Engineers has made a similar contract with McHenry County Soil and Water Conservation District for such services and is negotiating with other collar counties as well.

According to Cole, the contract with the Army Corps became a driving issue because the permit follow-ups have previously been handled by the Lake County Department of Planning, Building and Zoning.

"The Army Corps felt that there was not enough follow-up for permit violations in these matters and sought an outside agency to accomplish this. That is how they came to talk to the soil and water conservation district about being involved in the permit process," Cole said.

glory of being involved in gangs that attracts them. For others they are lacking something at home."

The detectives recommend that families also need to be more aware of their children's activities so that they can prevent gang problems at home.

"Parents need to know who their children's friends are and what types of activities they are involved in," said Farmer. "Many families don't recognize gang symbols and colors so they don't recognize that their kids are involved in such activity."

Perez says another problem in dealing with families and gangs is that in some families' gang involvement has been a part of their life for generations.

"Some parents don't take issue with the child's involvement because they were involved as youngsters, too," said Perez.

The officers stressed that the more information they receive on potential gang members, the better job that can do on preventing gang problems.

"If anyone suspects or knows an individual is a gang member they should provide that information to the local police department so that person can be registered as a known gang member," Farmer said. "The state also keeps a list of such people, and attempts to track them as they move from place to place."

The detectives said there are three rules to gang prevention: Read it, report it, remove it.

"When business people or residences see gang graffiti they should read it and report it to the police department, then remove it from the building."

Peterson sponsors busing bill

GRAYSLAKE—Proposed legislation from state Senator Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) would give parents leverage in their attempts to get busing for their children if it is passed. Peterson is sponsoring Illinois State Senate Bill 558. If passed it would require school districts to conduct a safety study of school walk routes at the request or petition of a parent/guardian to a school board. The study would then be reviewed by the state department of transportation to ensure accuracy.

Peterson said he considered the legislation when several Grayslake parents called him during a controversy over busing students from the Manor subdivision to school. Last fall the parents of these children lobbied the District 46 Board of Education tirelessly to get busing for their children who lived within a mile and a half of Woodview School. The parents believe the walk route poses several safety threats to the children including an isolated walk path, lack of sidewalks in the subdivision and what they believe to be a hazardous train crossing.

Since the last safety survey done by District 46, trains have been added to the Wisconsin Central Metra commuter line and Peterson said this has contributed to an increase in freight train traffic as well.

Parents believe this bill, if passed would eliminate a lengthy debate with the school board to have a new safety study conducted.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Lake Villa may get own district

ANTIOCH—After nearly a year of discussions, The Northwest Educational Planning Group has agreed to discuss the possibility of Lake Villa Elementary District becoming a K-12 district or Grayslake and Antioch high schools sharing a high school or combining into a large district.

Included in these discussions have been village board representatives and chamber officials from Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

The unified Lake Villa Elementary District would be similar to the Lake Villa Unit District plan rejected by voters two years ago. However, this plan would leave Millburn out the picture and not part of the new unit district.

The combined high school would allow one new high school to be built and save both high school districts from each having to construct a school to accommodate growth, according to Ray Novak, Grayslake High School superintendent.

The next meeting will be March 31, 7 p.m. at the Lake Villa administrative complex. Grayslake High School officials have been invited to the group for the first time to offer their thoughts.—by ALEC JUNG

Partnership wins grant

LIBERTYVILLE—The Upper Des Plaines Partnership has been awarded a $95,000 conservation 2000 grant from the State of Illinois.

The funds will be used to develop a management plan for the organization, which includes representatives from the Liberty Prairie Foundation, the Liberty Prairie Conservancy, the Army Corps of Engineers, the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission and the Lake County Forest Preserve District as well as a number of individuals representing agricultural, development and sports interests.

"The goal of the partnership is to look at the Des Plaines Watershed," said Michael Sands, executive director of the Prairie Foundation. "We'll work with these interests to develop a more broad, wide-ranging management plan."—by SUZIE REED

Millburn museum gets website

OLD MILL CREEK—Millburn is giving the world the opportunity to know what the residents of the tiny hamlet already know, it's a special place with an interesting story to tell. The Martin's Gen'L Store Museum, now has its own site on the World Wide Web.

The site is located on NorthStarNet and can be accessed from the Warren-Newport Library- Arts, Culture and Entertainment page. The address is <http://www.nsn.org/wrkhme/hmca>.

"This web site allows us to be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, something we cannot do in real life," according to Dorothy Fetting, chairman of the Historic Millburn Community Association, Inc.

The site tells browsers almost everything a first time visitor to the museum would be interested in knowing.

The community association has operated the general store museum in Millburn since 1985. It is located at the intersection of Highway 45 and Grass Lake Road.

At onetime it was the bustling community center of the area. It boasted three stores, three doctors, two undertakers, the first church and Masonic Lodge in the area, the first consolidated school district in the state and was home to the oldest mutual insurance company in the state, according to the association.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Schools target ice safety

MUNDELEIN—The winter's freeze-thaw cycle has made area lakes even more dangerous. One fatality and a close call brought the need for education to the forefront.

County Board Representative Diana O'Kelly of Mundelein is among the most ardent supporters of a safety program offered by the Lake County Forest Preserve. A video features children who demonstrate precautions as well as the proper response in an emergency.

"We teach them to treat ice as you would water," said Roy Johnson, superintendent of rangers for the Forest Preserve.

"If it were my children I'd want to make sure they were given an opportunity to learn this," said O'Kelly, who encouraged area schools and youth groups to take advantage of the presentation.—by SUZIE REED

Gurnee group favors fee cuts

GURNEE—Members of the Gurnee Tax Rebate Committee would rather see village officials walk toward a proposed rebate than run.

The committee recommended to the village board a reduction in service fees, such as water and garbage. If approved, it would be instituted under a grant program.

"The committee recommended that if there is a surplus of funds, that the board should consider a reduction in user fee or service charges," Gurnee Administrator James Hayner said.

Hayner said just which services would be reduced in cost has yet to be determined. The amount of surplus expected at the end of the fiscal year should be known later this month, he said.

Committee member Tom Chamberlain urged the board to consider increasing the amusement tax at Six Flags Great America. The village has received 40 cents per guest for more than a decade.

"If there are three million visitors, at $20 average ticket price, the village could receive $3 million, which is three times what we are getting now," Chamberlain said.

He does not agree with Mayor Richard Welton that such a tax would be too complicated.

When the village board begins its budget hearings on April 5, the tax rebate will be known as a grant program, to offset legal viewpoints.—by STEVE PETERSON

Village pushes for fair share

LAKE VILLA—An annexation agreement is not being signed by a developer because he feels the village should pay for the cost of water hookups to the proposed development.

Rich Ender is proposing to construct a 120-unit subdivision on a 60-acre tract on the north side of Grass Lake Road and west of Deep Lake Road. A majority of the subdivision is in Antioch Township. Ender said he believed based on previous discussions with the village that Lake Villa would be providing the service.

Mayor Frank Loffredo explained all developers are required to pay their fair share for their portion of water improvements.

Until the developer signs the agreement, there is no annexation agreement.—by ALEC JUNG

Funding plan questioned

WAUCONDA—A consortium of education associations are trying to get Illinois legislators to approve a new plan for getting more state aid to school districts.

The plan is entitled "Fair School Funding: A Proposal from the Education Community." Wauconda Unit District 118 officials took a look at the plan, and think it needs some work before it will go forward.

What the alliance is proposing is to increase the state income tax from 3 percent to 4 percent in order to provide more funding for education, and is supposed to allow for some reduction in property taxes, said William Harkin, director of financial and operational services.

"Part of that is going to be put back in education," Harkin said.

As board President Gary Thompson sees it, there is a critical problem with the plan.

"We are taking away property tax, and that is a way of selling it," he said. But not all of the increases in income tax will go back into education, he said.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Davis back on ballot

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Citing problems posed by contradictory testimony and a lack of unbiased witnesses, a new electoral board for Round Lake Beach has ruled 2-1 to put Round Lake Beach Mayor Ralph Davis' Beach 2000 slate back on the April 1 ballot.

The new hearing took place at the County Building in Waukegan on the afternoon of Feb. 27 before a board composed of three attorneys: Robin Demars Goodstein of Lake Bluff, Matthew Chancey of Waukegan and Board Chairman Peter Friedman of Chicago.

Board member Goodstein disagreed with Friedman and Chancey, saying that "the candidates do not belong on the ballot due to their non-compliance" and recommending that they "pursue a write-in campaign."

"It's just been a speed bump in the campaign," said Davis of the petition challenge to his slate following the ruling. "We're looking forward to setting our sights on the real issues."—by JEFF PATERSON

Board eyes sewer extension

FOX LAKE—The village board is considering the issue of extending sewer service to more than 800 homes in subdivisions south and west beyond the village limits. The issue has been brought forward by a Lake County proposal to remedy the chronic septic system problems of subdivision residents.

Residents of the southwestern subdivisions were at the meeting to lend their support for the county proposal.

"I would ask the board to really put serious consideration into this project," said Bill Brumbach of Bayview Terrace. "We all know, once the water goes into the septic, it goes out somewhere, and if you study it at any length, it's going into the lake." The plan could be financially lucrative for the village.

Calculations indicate 979 connectable lots of the system could generate $979,000 in regional connection fees for the plant and $293,700 in local connection fees. Monthly user fees generated annually would be $196,779 in regional fees and $46,992 in local fees.

The issue has been referred back to the Sewer and Water Committee for more research and to try to determine the total financial impact upon the village if the proposal is adopted.—by JEFF PATERSON

Township salary increases lower

When it comes to township government these days, electors generally are expecting more and paying less. Or at least paying smaller salary increases to elected officials than they did formerly.

In a random survey, Lakeland Newspapers found that the typical township official taking office after election day April 1 will be receiving the smallest pay increase in years. Historically, township salaries dwarf those of the other level of grassroots government, the municipalities.

In Warren Township, outgoing officials took a "hack and slash" attitude in setting new salary rates. Statutes prohibit sitting township officials from setting their own pay. In what was seen widely as a political reprisal, the Warren supervisor's salary was cut from $57,240 to $30,000. Pay for the assessor and township clerk also was cut drastically.

Antioch Township downgraded the supervisor's salary from $51,688 to $44,000. Grant Township enacted a pay freeze on all elected officials. Pay of the Libertyville Township supervisor was kept at $51,000 per year. Slight pay increases for the elected were voted in Lake Villa, Wauconda, Elia and Avon townships. Fremont Township (rural Mundelein) voted a pay hike and adopted three percent annual cost of living increases. At Vernon Township, the wealthiest township in Lake County, all officers except the highway commission, were voted incremental increases with annual COLA adjustments for the length of their terms.

While elected township officials took a more circumspect attitude toward pay, electors stepped up demands for service and leadership, particularly in west Lake County where the flames of growth and development are engulfing formerly placid unincorporated areas.

A whole new set of demands have been placed on township government to go with the time-honored roles of providing general assistance to the needy, road maintenance and supporting the framework for assessing real property. Now citizens are heaping on the townships demands for land use planning, recreational facilities, preservation of open space, garbage removal and recycling, senior citizens services and protection of the environment.

What citizens are saying to township officials, in effect, is that "we're paying you well. Now do something for us." It didn't used to be that way.

Petition strategy tests Corps might Opponents of the wealthy Pritzker family's vast home building project in west Lake County, largest ever in the area, are turning to a time-honored strategy to slow down the development express—petitioning.

With hopes of obtaining hundreds of signatures, their aim is to leverage a no-more nation-wide permit position of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers as pertaining to Arrow Lake. The development calls for 1,828 homes clustered around a vast wetlands, once considered for acquisition by Illinois Dept. of Conservation because of its pristine qualities.

Pritzker foes seek support for the Army Corps position as it relates to the meandering Squaw Creek watershed study being undertaken by the Lake County Stormwater Management Agency. The study, planned to be completed by 1999, will include a careful analysis of downstream impact of Arrow Lake building. The 24,000 acre watershed reaching as far as Wauconda and Evanston empties into flood-prone Long Lake and is connected to the Chain 'O Lakes at Fox Lake.

Downstream residents are frustrated that officials of the Village of Round Lake, which provided corporate approval for the controversial high density home project, have ignored their pleas for consideration. Homeowners say Arrow Lake building will only intensify flooding dangers in addition to damaging flora and fauna distinctive to the area known locally as Mud Lake.

The significance of the petition effort is that the prestige of the Army Corps to control flooding and protect the environment is being put squarely on the line. If one of the richest families in America with the help of their minions in a small town "on the make" for growth can thumb their nose at the Army Corps, then there isn't much else that can be done to curb unfettered development.

Viewpoint Gash targets tollway for sweeping reform

BILL SCHROEDER

Unless you're a die-hard fan of the Illinois Toll Highway Authority, there's a lot to like about the changes State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) aims to bring about in the way the oft maligned agency operates.

The feisty Lake County legislator wants to bring about sweeping tollway operational changes and insure adoption of the bipartisan supported "Tollpayers Bill of Rights," which among other things, requires appointment of a badly need inspector general.

Gash is giving Republican leaders (and a few Democrats, too) fits in her legislative proposals to reign in the abuse and mismanagement of the Toll Highway Authority. She is an appropriate heir to the long-standing work conducted during his days in the General Assembly by former State Rep. John Matijevich (D-Waukegan) to designate tollways freeways after bonds have been retired and provide for greater accountability of tollway commissioners.

Gash has a lengthy list of tollway reform initiatives. They include matching tolls paid with location of repair work (ending the so-called "system" approach), limiting the cozy relationship between the tollway and Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT), eliminating 15 tollbooths, curbing political contributions from companies doing business with the tollway and stiffening environmental impact statements for proposed construction.

The tollway authority plans to spend nearly $700 million for the proposed I-355 extension in Will County and close to $1 billion for the proposed Rte. 53 extension in Lake County. As it stands now, elected representatives have no say so in how tollway commissioners and their employees conduct business. This doesn't seem right.

FLOATING ON AIR—Subscriber Doug Ploss wondered whether air bags wouldn't make snowmobiles safer considering that a large number of snowmobile fatalities occur when machines break through thin ice.

This column is happy to report that Ploss was supplied with information, which he happily sent along to Lakeland Newspaper readers, that two Canadian engineering students have developed a snowmobile flotation system that deploys when machines break through ice.

Three bags—one under the nose and one under each running board, inflate with carbon dioxide about two seconds after water rises past a designated level. The flotation devices are going to become optional equipment.

LIFETIME JOB—The way it worked out, getting elected senior class president 50 years ago turned out to be a lifetime job for Bob Krumrey of Libertyville. Just as he has done during intervals over the years and again for the golden anniversary, Krumrey now is heading up arrangements for a reunion of the Class of 1947 of Libertyville High School. The class has reserved Brae Loch Golf Club for a dinner Oct. 24. But there will be plenty of work to do before.

ACHIEVER—Nancy Weliver Dague should be a lock for a Alpha Gamma Delta sorority achievement award. She's the Long Lake mom who delivered quadruplets at Lutheran General Hospital. Nancy is an alumna of the University of Illinois Chapter. The Dague quads are destined to become Lake County celebrities if not nationally known, at least with their mom's sorority.

'NEW TOWN'—A Schaumburg-based developer has captured the interest of officials of the Village of Round Lake with a design for a relocated commercial center to the intersection of Rte. 134 and Fairfield Rd. A key part of the project is relocation of a Metra station and construction of an apartment complex of nearly 600 units. Mayor Jim Lumber views the project as a "good fit" since it would be adjacent to the Pritzker Arrow Lake development of more than 1,800 homes. Together, the two projects would dwarf the existing village in size and population.

How to invite learning

I confess a lack of sophistication when it comes to evaluating the many variables surrounding Gurnee's upcoming referendum on school improvements. I am attuned, however, to the level of commitment—the value—I place on my daughters' educational environments.

I like walking into O'Plaine School and have wondered why. I think it's because the physical space invites learning. It's that simple. And this observation gives me helpful information as I look at the existing learning environments at Spaulding and Viking Schools. Because I think faculty and staff do a remarkable See LETTERS page C5

PARTY LINES

Fundraiser brings out who's who in GOP circles

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

More than 230 people attended a fundraiser for the Wauconda Tag Team, hosted by former Wauconda Mayor Ken McGill and long-time village clerk Venita McConnell.

Among the well-known past and present Lake County Republican politicians in attendance were: Sheriff Gary Del Re, Coroner Barbara Richardson, Judge John Goshgarian, Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt, Lake County Clerk Willard Helander, State Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-52nd), County Board Members Bob Neal (Wadsworth) and Bonnie Thomson Carter (Ingleside), Mayor Charles Amrich of Island Lake and former Sheriff Clint Grinnell.

Raising funds- Last week party lines mentioned a murder mystery fund raiser sponsored by State Majority Leader Robert Churchill at the home of Antioch businessman Randy Miles.

Churchill was the highest bidder in the Antioch Rotary Club auction for the murder mystery event which Miles, a Rotary member, was gracious enough to offer to host at his home. Miles did so in hopes of garnering a higher bid for the murder mystery.

Churchill bid $3,000. It was Churchill's choice to have a fund raiser.

Neither Rotary Club members nor Miles had entertained thoughts the winner may turn the club's fund-raising event into a fund-raiser of their own.

Chalk that up for the lessons learned column.

Communication key- The Time Team in Grant Twp. is calling communication the key to a successful future for the township. Supervisor candidate Mike Francis is calling for an enhanced working relationship with surrounding villages, schools, townships and with county leaders on joint public projects.

Francis

Francis says he is prepared to seek, one-on-one, monthly meetings with local mayors and township supervisors to better understand each other's concerns if elected April 1.

Grever, Neal on national steering committee- Lake County Board Chairman Robert L. Grever of Kildeer is once again following in the footsteps of his predecessor Bob Depke in his appointment to the National Association of Counties (NACo) Transportation and Telecommunications Steering Committee.

"I am excited to work on this effort and am very pleased that Lake County's representation on this important committee is continuing," Grever said.

The committee is comprised of approximately 50-60 county officials who meet several times during the year to examine issues critical of local government.

Additionally, County Board Member Bob Neal of Wadsworth was reappointed to serve on the intergovernmental relations steering committee of NACo.

"I enjoy working on this committee because it's important that the different county departments work together to provide the necessary services to citizens at the least possible cost," Neal said.

Campaign comedy- The Dedicated to Mundein literature handed out at a recent gathering included glowing reports of each candidate's qualifications. The slate includes incumbent Mayor Marilyn Sindles, Trustees Bruce Campbell and Jim Nutschig, and newcomer Steve Powell. A notation instructed the reader to "see other side" for the opponents' qualifications. The back of the page was blank.

Welton

In the spotlight- One of the hottest issues in Gurnee last year made the "onion" list of Chicago

Magazine's February edition. Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton and the trustees' decision to give back Six Flags Great America tickets destined for public officials was mentioned. The long-standing policy was right up there with other suburban and city public official blunders, according to the magazine.

Seeing double- There might be some confusion at the Lake Zurich polls April 1, with two trustee candidates who have the same name.

A slight spelling derivation may provide voters with the only clue when choosing three candidates for trustee, including David L. Talbott and Michael S. Talbett. Both are running on competing slates.

Making waves- The political rumor mill has it that Newport Township Supervisor candidate Thomas Pawlak is an ally of County Board Member Bob Neal and that he got involved in the township election to avenge incumbent Supervisor Mildred Corder's support of Neal's opponent in his bid for Lake County Recorder of Deeds in November. Any truth to this one?

Porter forum- Congressman John Porter (R-10th) will hold the second in his 1997 series of public forums March 8, from 10 a.m. to noon, at the Waukegan Public Library, 128 North County Street in Waukegan. For more information contact Congressman Porter's office in Deerfield, 940-0202 or Waukegan, 662-0101.

'Selling' guns to youth

Editor:

What a joke. An organization in Antioch calling itself the Northern Illinois Conservation Club will open its facilities in March for the teaching of "hunter safety—to adults and children" by the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources.

What has conservation to do with hunting? What does the word "conservation" in its title imply—killings to be conserved as trophies.

And the intent of the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources in conducting these classes? Obviously, to stimulate interest in hunting at the earliest possible ages, capitalizing on the fascination guns hold for most youngsters; also to help counterturn the decline of interest and participation in hunting by young people. Increases in hunter population mean increases in licensing and associated sources of considerable revenue for the Department. In short, money is the primary motivation, not regard for the safety of hunters.

If the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources were truly concerned about safety, it would never recommend placing guns in the hands of children.

Listen to all sides

Editor:

Are Lake Zurich's taxpayers tired of politics as usual? Are the taxpayers tired of our tax dollars being wasted such as the village did during a two year period of trying to force an unnecessary, expensive boardwalk/promenade on us, in which, even the Governor turned down a request for a federal grant? Are the taxpayers tired of all the secret meetings, unfortunate investigations and expensive litigations? You bet we are.

Are the taxpayers, particularly those who didn't vote for Mayor Vasels, tired of being ignored by her not meeting with us or answering our letters and phone calls to discuss issues that reflect directly on our health, safety and welfare? Are the taxpayers tired of being told our 140 Freedom of Information Act request cannot be acknowledged because there is no file? Are the taxpayers tired of not being informed that large, heavy trucks and equipment, along with flood lights, would be operating and keeping the residents up all night from 9 p.m. until 5:30 a.m. the next morning? You bet we are.

Therefore, based on the above and other concerns of ours for the village, our choice for the April 1 election is Village First consisting of Krischke for mayor, Hutton, McAvoy and Talbett for trustees and Steffens for clerk. Their platform is simple: open government, control growth (no new annexations for housing developments), listen to and represent "all" the residents of Lake Zurich among other great ideas to enhance the quality of lives, while controlling taxes.

Candidates 'eliminated'

Editor:

New resident Allen Stubitsch and his three cohorts vying to become mayor and village trustees in Mundein are not being truthful in their campaign to win the upcoming Mundein election.

Fact: The Village of Mundein, through the efforts of elected village officials, village staff the business development commission and in conjunction with the owners of vacant business sites within the Village of Mundein have contacted nearly 1,000 entities since 1995 in efforts to attract and retain more nonresidential tax generating businesses into our corporate boundaries. These efforts have included, but are not limited to: Bass Pro Shops; Cabellas; Gander Mountain; CDW, Zany Brains; Out Back Steak House; bakeries, various Cinema complexes; grocery stores; car, boat and motorcycle dealers; an ice rink and the YMCA.

Many simply do not respond to our efforts; some say we do not have any sites that are accommodating; many want to locate near an existing shopping mall; some want the village taxpayers to donate land or be "business partners" in their efforts; some wish to retain their sales property tax and others choose to hold off until Route 53 comes to fruition. The village has also been instructed by various owners of vacant property to stay out of their marketing campaigns as they attempt to fill their own vacancies via the free market place.

We, as taxpayers and elected officials realize that we have a fiduciary responsibility to our citizenry to attract nonresidential tax generating growth to the Village of Mundein; we are projecting sales tax revenues to increase nearly 10 percent over the past two years; hopefully, the residents of Mundein will become aware of this and our other positive accomplishments and vote for the most qualified candidates to be mayor and village trustees—which definitely eliminates Alan Stubitsch and his three trustees candidates.

Show of courage

Editor:

Congratulations to North Barrington. They have shown uncommon courage and class in turning down that mega-mall. They were not hypnotized into believing that the income was the beginning and the end.

The arrogance of those out-of-town-ers descending on a community and telling its citizens what they must have, is unbelievable. As if they know what they're talking about, beyond making big bucks for themselves and their investors. As if they care, beyond making big bucks for themselves and their investors. And the small merchant has no choice but to pay their high rentals or go out of business, when they come to town.

There are enough malls a 30-minute drive from here. Let those sacrificial citizens bear the consequences. If Abe Lincoln could walk miles and miles and miles to borrow books to lift himself out of ignorance, surely us modern day people can drive our comfortable cars 10 miles over well marked and safe roads to one of these malls, for fun and diversion and glitz.

And you had better watch Mr. Eschenbach. He has already laid a framework for a local mall.

Time for a choice

Editor:

The upcoming April 1 election for Libertyville township Assessor gives residents of the district a choice of two distinctly different candidates.

There is, of course, the incumbent assessor, Dennis Jagla. Four years ago, local political activist Jack Martin, spent over $20,000 of his own money to run one of the great misinformation campaigns to get Jagla elected. Jagla was to be the taxpayers savior—he has been far from that. From being very unavailable, to being very rude to the inquiring taxpayer we have not received what Martin advertised.

This April we have a chance to elect a very committed, well meaning assessor in Peggy Boyes Freese. Freese is community involved, taxpayer oriented and anxious to serve the residents of Libertyville Township. Her roots are in the township and she cares about the effectiveness and equity in the tax process.

I urge you to vote for Peggy Boyes Freese this April 1. Don't let the Jagla/Martin team try to fool us for four more years.

Investigate closely get rich quick schemes

There are two ways to getting on in this world: by one's own industry, or by the weakness of others.—Jean de La Bruyère

Nearly every week for the last few weeks, my mailbox has contained information on some new business venture someone believes I should be involved in. They all have one theme in common: for little money, with no selling and almost no effort you can make some major bucks.

The headlines are exciting. Phrases such as "Earn $3 to 5,000 per month part-time!" "Would you like a big raise? (usually followed by a long list of folks earning thousands every month)" and "I make $1,000 per day," are typical.

I'm certain I'll get more mail after writing this column. Folks who believe in multi-level marketing businesses (and there are thousands of them out there) are going to flood my mailbox.

So for the record, let me stress that this is not an anti multi-level marketing piece. I will try to cover the subject in a neutral manner. Some are bound to perceive it in a negative way simply because I don't happen to share their enthusiasm.

In reality, multi-level marketing offers comparable opportunities to franchises and other types of businesses. Some concepts are better than others, some ideas require more money than others and all have some element of risk.

Not every multi-level marketing business is a good one. In addition, no business will make you rich (legally) without some investment and a good deal of effort

Are the products or service the company provides really needed or wanted by a wide range of people? What makes this company's offerings truly unique and marketable? Can your potential customers purchase similar products through conventional retail channels? Why are this company's products and services better or more attractive to consumers?

• Second, determine if the products or service offer good value: Remember, that value is a comparison of price versus quality and quantity. Compare products with other brands and companies. Try the products before you sign on. Can you really save money? Does this product or service save time or enhance your life? If you become a believer, it's easier to convince

• First, look closely at the opportunity.

US Cable and local authorities launch Amnesty Campaign

US Cable of Lake County has announced its participation with local authorities in an amnesty campaign to educate and inform consumers about cable theft. US Cable estimates that theft of cable service costs the system more than $3,901,791, and $195,090 in lost franchise fees for the community.

Amnesty will be granted to all consumers who are illegally receiving cable services without payment. This includes all illegal connections to the system, the use of unauthorized descrambling equipment or receipt of other services which are not being paid for.

Amnesty will be granted until March 31. After that date, US Cable will begin an audit of the entire cable system to secure all services. At that time, any unauthorized services that are discovered will be turned over to the local police department and the Lake County States Attorney's office for prosecution to the fullest extent of the law.

Theft of cable service is a violation of Illinois law, punishable by up to six months in jail and fines of $1,000. In addition, US Cable reserves the right to file civil charges against any illegal users of its service for back payment of services received for consumers who do not take advantage of amnesty.

In making the announcement, US Cable General Manager Paul Ashley said "Cable theft is a serious crime that influences all aspects of our business. The revenues lost to cable theft can impact the quality of services consumers receive as well as our ability to offer new services in the future. We feel a tremendous commitment to securing our system and to our paying customers."

"Our business is to bring entertainment and information to our paying customers, but when that objective is at risk, we must take these aggressive steps to protect our product. I know that the cooperative effort with the local authorities will enhance our efforts greatly and I thank them for their commitment," Ashley added.

IRS trained volunteers offer free tax help

Free tax help is now available from IRS trained volunteers at several locations throughout Lake County.

Tax assistance has been sponsored through the IRS Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) and Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs for over 25 years. Last year, almost 147,000 Illinois taxpayers were assisted through VITA and TCE. These programs assist lower and middle income, handicapped, non-English speaking and elderly taxpayers at locations in their own community.

Each year IRS tax specialists conduct training classes for hundreds of volunteers who then prepare individual tax returns free of charge for Illinois residents. Some volunteer sites also offer free electronic filing.

The volunteer sites are conveniently located in churches, community centers, libraries and seniors centers.

Bring your tax package, Forms W-2 and 1099, and any other tax records when visiting a VITA/TCE site. Some sites may require an appointment, so it's best to phone first.

Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis and guest search for the winning ruby during 'An Affair of the Heart' gala.

'An Affair of the Heart' gala raises $100,000

Saint Therese Medical Center Foundation held their 13th annual Affair of the Heart at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort. The benefit gala raised $100,000 for Saint Therese Medical Center. Those funds will be used for various projects within the medical center.

The evening saw the first Champagne Surprise contest. "The champagne glasses were filled with gems worth $40 to $300.

Each numbered glass was bought for $30 and in one of the glasses was the contest winner, a $2,200 ruby. Dr. Rodney Haenschen of the Northern Illinois Emergency Physicians was the big winner," said Tim Selz, Saint Therese Medical Center president.

The silent auction was a success as well. "We had everything from golf clubs to a diamond slide to framed baseball cards. Everything went," said Marguerite Turpel, Saint Therese Medical Center Foundation board member.

The guests included Illinois Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin, former Lake County Board Chairman Robert Depke and State Representative Terry Link, as well as doctors, employees, and business people from all over Lake County.

The $100,000 raised will be used by the hospital to purchase high-tech equipment or support the expansion of the hospital or its programs.

For more information or to become a member of the Saint Therese Medical Center Foundation, call 360-2183.

Legal check-up can prevent problems down the road

Most people have a family doctor—a general practitioner they can call on for many of their health needs. But, fewer people have their own attorney to handle general legal matters, even though their legal well-being may suffer as a result, according to Ralph Gabric, president of the 34,000 member Illinois State Bar Association and a partner in the Wheaton law firm of Gabric, Millon and Ory.

"Many people decide to seek help from an attorney only after a legal problem occurs," says Gabric. "By this time, an easy solution to the problem may not be possible. In law, as in medicine, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Most people do not have frequent need for legal services, but there are certain events in everyone's life when legal advice is indispensable, Gabric continues. The most common legal services are for buying or selling a home, making an estate plan, starting a business, or dealing with that dreaded traffic ticket, he says.

"When the need to have a legal advocate arises suddenly, it is far better to have a trusted advisor than having to turn to a complete stranger," he continues.

Gabric says that most general practitioners will provide an initial consultation with a prospective client for either a nominal fee or no fee. This is an opportunity to review the legal status and to begin a professional relationship that can save time, money and unnecessary hardships in the future.

"Surveys indicate that many people are hesitant to see a lawyer, even when they know they have a legal problem," he says. "Perhaps they are unfamiliar with the services provided by lawyers or are fearful of the cost. In many cases, delay may mean the problem will be more expensive to resolve or can no longer be resolved."

An extreme example of this is in estate planning. Statistics reveal that three out of four people die without leaving a will or other instructions for distributing their property and possessions, according to Gabric. In the absence of a properly executed will, an estate is distributed according to formula contained in state law that may or may not be appropriate for the surviving family.

There are other legal remedies that are subject to statutes of limitations. Failure to take action within a specified time can result in a loss of the right to the remedy, he says.

During an initial consultation with a lawyer, Gabric advises discussing fees. "For most services, a lawyer should be able to tell what the cost will be or provide an estimate," he says.

"Having a lawyer means having someone to represent one's best interests when the need arises. A lawyer offers his or her time, expertise, and loyalty. A lawyer must abide by the Rules of Professional Conduct which require, among other things, that a lawyer must have no conflicting loyalties to other persons," he concludes.

The Illinois State Bar Association has free brochures that explain how to find and work with a lawyer. To obtain copies of "The General Practitioner" and "Know Your Lawyer," write the ISBA Public Affairs Dept., Illinois Bar Center, Springfield, IL 62701.

The Holy Family Women's Board will host their "Capone and Caviar" Gala fund-raiser March 15 at the Rosemont Convention Center. The event is orchestrated by Holy Family's Women's Board and is the Medical Center's largest fundraising activity each year drawing crowds of 300-500 from surrounding communities. Members of the board include: Debbie Mattan of Libertyville, president and co-chair of the gala; Barbara Raif of Long Grove, immediate past president & gala reservations chair; Mary Jobski of Mt. Prospect, gala chair; and Cathie Lauth of Riverwoods, secretary and invitations chair. For more information on the gala call, (847) 297-1800, ext. 1118.

Offer Expires 3/31/97

CLC board approves contract to look to 21st century needs

The College of Lake County Board of Trustees authorized the college administration to hire a facilitator to conduct a process called "Future Search" that will help the college plan to meet the needs of the next century.

The board approved a contract for $25,000 with The Nova Group, a consulting company in St. Paul, Minn., and its executive director Monica Manning, to design and facilitate the process, which will involve college staff, students and Lake County community members in a "Future Search Conference" that will be held by the end of 1997. Participants in the conference will review the college's past, explore present concerns and assess future needs and issues. Based on this analysis, they will identify a "preferred future" for the college and then recommend action plans. These plans will be incorporated into the college's existing planning process as it formulates future goals and objectives. The "Future Search" process has been successfully implemented by several community colleges and four-year universities.

In other action, the board adopted a proposal establishing tuition and fees for fiscal years 1998, 1999 and 2000. Under the new proposal, the in-district tuition per credit hour will remain at the present rate of $47 for fiscal years 1998 and 1999.

Tuition will be increased to $48 in fiscal year 2000. The board also approved a technology fee of $1 per credit hour beginning in fiscal year 1999. Additionally, the board increased the student senate's share of the $4 comprehensive fee from the current $1.25 to $1.30 per credit hour, effective in fiscal year 1998, to support student clubs and expand student activities and services.

In other business, the board accepted a $3,000 grant from the Illinois Campus Compact for Community Service (ICCCS) and a $1,000 grant from the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT). The ICCCS grant will provide stipends for two faculty members and two students to develop projects that will be integrated into computer science and horticulture course curricula for middle schools. Upon completion, the project will be pilot tested by 30 CLC students at Stanton Middle School in Fox Lake. The IDOT grant will be used to bring a Dodge Neon car, equipped with a drunk driving simulator, to the college on April 15 to promote prevention of drunk driving.

In other action, the board adopted a new policy titled Responsible Use of Information Technology that establishes guidelines for appropriate use of the college's communications equipment, software and networks, including telephones, computers, fax machines, Internet and electronic mail systems, video conferencing and satellite transmission systems.

Prior to the meeting, the board held a hearing on the college's proposal to issue limited tax bonds in the amount of $7 million to cover the cost of early retirement incentives and technology acquisition. The board adopted a resolution of intent to issue bonds at its January meeting and is expected to approve the first bond sale at the March board meeting.

In purchasing, the board approved the purchase of a computerized mail management system from Neopost of Rolling Meadows for $24,414.55.

The next step is to evaluate whether the company is more focused on tangibles (products and/or services) or intangibles (building mass by creating huge down lines). Long-term success will depend on tangibles. No one builds real wealth unless someone in the down line is selling product. You can only maintain sales year after year with quality and value.

Finally, take a good look at the company. Is the firm one with a proven track record? Has it survived the test of time? There is a downside here. Recent research shows that those folks who become part of a multi-level marketing program early on have better than average odds of achieving real wealth from the venture. There are analysts who believe you've waited too long, if you wait to see a firm develop a proven record.

I wish you well with your efforts. If you decide to jump in, please don't try to sign me up. I've already got all the opportunities I can manage. I would, however, enjoy hearing about your success.

Tax-free investments can be good way to achieve higher returns

Would you believe that you can make exceptional profits on paper, yet gradually be losing wealth?

Even though your investments may appear to be providing competitive rates of return, their "real returns" may be much less. Real return is what your investment provides after you consider inflation and taxes.

H. Garrett Thornburg Jr., an investment adviser managing more than $5 billion in assets, illustrates real return with a hypothetical dollar invested in the Standard & Poor's (S&P) Index of 500 stocks in 1925. Seventy years later, that dollar would have grown to about $1,114. Take out inflation, taxes and expenses, however, and that dollar would now be worth about $27.

Here's another way to illustrate real return: From 1966 through 1995, after deducting taxes, inflation and expenses, the S&P 500 provided an average annual return of about 2 percent.

Part of the reason for this is taxes. When investing in stocks and mutual funds, you pay taxes on your dividends. Your tax rate (along with the inflation rate and any investment expenses) must be factored into the dividend yield to obtain your real return each year.

You also owe taxes if you realize a gain when you sell the investment. If your investment's value has appreciated, you will lose up to 28 percent of that increase to capital gains taxes.

Commissions and annual expenses also reduce your real return, and inflation takes a bite, too. Over the past decade, inflation has averaged 3.47 percent, which is low by historical standards, but it still has a major impact on your investment returns.

What's an investor to do? You can't do much about inflation (that's the Federal Reserve's job), but you may be able to minimize taxes.

If you're in the 28 percent tax bracket or higher, you should consider the advantages of tax-exempt investments, such as tax-free bonds, mutual funds and unit investment trusts.

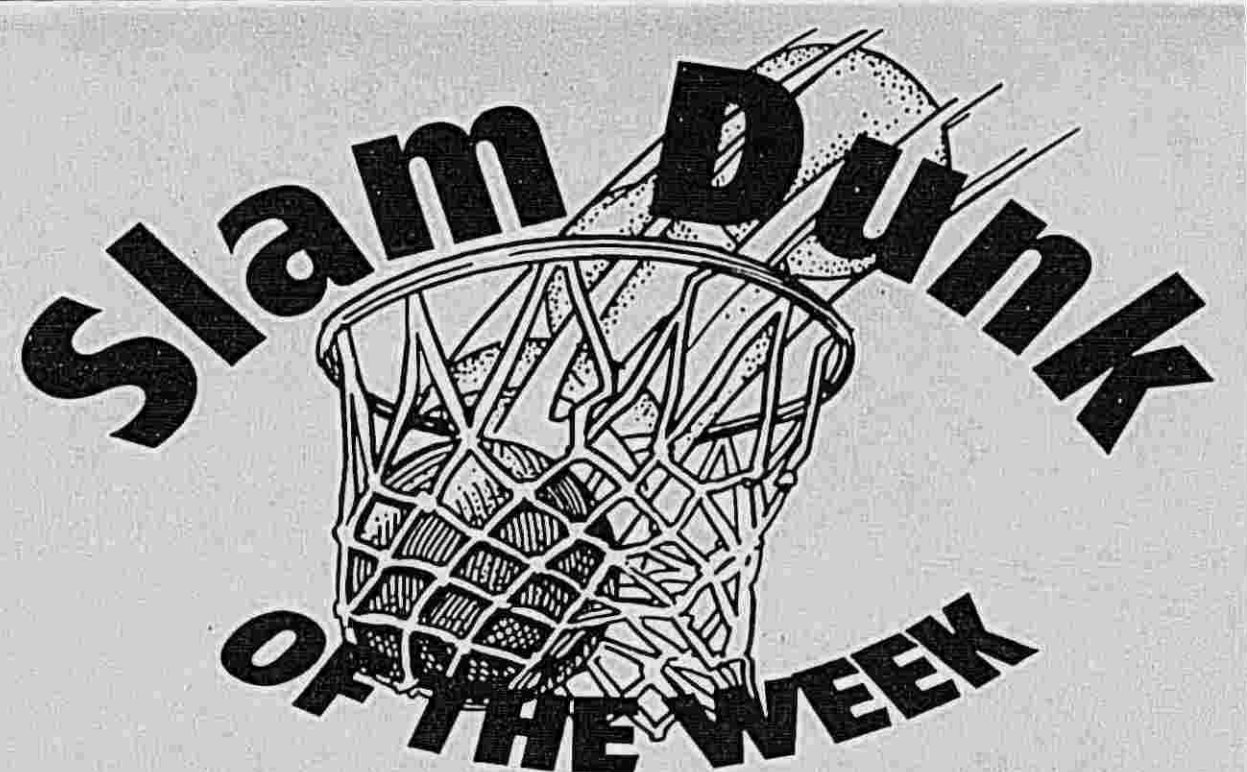

For example, you can find intermediate-term tax-free bonds paying about 5.1 percent. With inflation at about 3 percent today, your real return (before expenses) is about 2.1 percent — by historical standards, an attractive real return for a conservative investment.

Tax-deferred vehicles are another way to reduce current taxes and improve real returns.

With pension and profit-sharing plans, 401(k)s and IRAs, you can invest in higher-paying taxable investments while sheltering them from current taxes.

As baby boomers age, increases in Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security seem imminent — and those increases will likely be paid for with higher taxes. For this reason, it will become even more important for investors to focus on real returns. Tax-free investments can be a good way to achieve higher real returns.

Take advantage of several tax-savings opportunities

Whether you're working for a company, running your own business, or even looking for a job, you can improve your bottom line by taking advantage of some tax-savings opportunities. To get started, the Illinois CPA Society provides answers to some of the common questions that small business owners and employees are likely to have about business-related tax issues.

Q. As a self-employed consultant, can I deduct the cost of meals I eat alone while travelling away from home or only those eaten with business associates?

A. If the primary purpose of your trip is business, meal expenses are deductible whether you eat alone or with business associates.

However, as with all business meals, you may only deduct 50 percent of the cost.

Q. Since I'm always bringing work home from the office, I bought a home computer. As an employee, can I deduct the cost of my computer?

A. You may be eligible to claim a first-year expensing deduction for your computer if you meet certain requirements.

According to tax law, you must use the computer over 50 percent of the time for business, and it must be placed in your home for the convenience of your employer. It also must be required as a condition of your employment so you can properly perform your duties as an employee. If you meet these requirements, you may expense the cost of the business portion of the property.

Q. Is it true that I no longer need receipts to document travel and entertainment expenses under $75.

A. That's right. The IRS no longer requires you to keep receipts for business-related travel and entertainment expenses under $75. But in the event of an audit, you still will need to substantiate your expenses. So, be sure your records reflect the date, location, and amount, as well as the name of the person entertained and the business purpose of the entertainment.

Q. I've heard I may be able to save taxes by structuring my new business as a Limited Liability Partnership (LLP). What is an LLP and how can it help me?

A. An LLP is a form of legal entity that combines the liability protection of a corporation with the tax advantages of a partnership. Like a corporation, an LLP protects its owners from personal liability for the company's debts. But, an LLP is taxed like a partnership, which means that LLP owners report income on their personal returns and pay tax at their own individual rates.

Q. I incurred substantial job hunting expenses last year when I decided to switch careers. Are these tax deductible?

A. No. In order to deduct costs associated with job hunting, you must have been seeking a position in your current line of work.

Q. For the past 10 years, I have deducted expenses related to my home office. I'm planning to sell my house later this year and roll over the gain into a new home. Will my home office affect the tax treatment of my sale?

A. Yes. The area in your home that you used as an office is considered business, not residential property. That means the part of your gain that is allocable to your home office does not qualify for the tax-deferred rollover and is taxable.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy SakolDear Search,

I am writing in regard to a conversation I was involved in a few weeks back. An acquaintance was describing an incident that had caught her as she put it, "off guard." She had applied for a position as a general office clerk. Her qualifications were as she put it, "up to par." While she was currently employed with another company in the same industry, the idea of taking a job closer to home appealed to her and made her want the job all the more. During her first interview the company was impressed with her ability to deal with difficult people, and at the end of the two hour interview, the potential employer asked if she had anything else to add other than what appeared on her resume and application. She said that she would appreciate it if they would not contact her current employer as she did not want to let on that she was looking for a new job. At that point the company stated that they would be checking references. It came to be known within the first 15 minutes of reference checking that this person did not graduate from the High School for which she stated. In fact, it was found that there was no High School diploma from any school nor was there an equivalency test. The company was let down by the thought of thinking they had found the right person, only to have found her honesty to be questionable. In questioning the references they were given by this person, it was found that although she stated that she was currently employed with a specific employer, a reference stated that she had not been employed there for a very long time. The employer called her on these discrepancies in her information for which the person became irate, by using four letter words followed by three letter words and resembling nothing short of a Jekyll & Hyde routine. "How dare they check my current employer," she was overheard to say. I chuckled at the thought of how she reacted to something that she herself caused. It wasn't until she started to rant and rave about how she was going to call the Better Business Bureau on the company and tell all her friends not to work for that company, that I finally stuck my piece of mind in on the deal. What is wrong with this picture? Every application I have filled out in my time asks for a signature which states something like...to the best of my knowledge, all the information is true and correct. She said she signed it and I asked her what did you think that was for...your autograph???? It is a document...binding...and legal. People check references. Those who don't, open themselves up for trouble right from the start. Do you agree? Thanks for listening.
F.R.-Gurnee

Dear F.R.,

Right you are! Had the person been honest in the beginning, they would have stood a much better chance of landing the job than for the company to have found it out in the long run and destroyed her credibility. She seems to have done that all on her own. Thanks for writing!

DRIFTWOOD

In today's economy, when every cent counts, a young family shopping for their first home would like to make an economical purchase that presents the most for each building dollar. If you happen to fit that profile, you need look no further than the 1033 square foot Driftwood. This three bedroom, two bath home wastes none of the allotted space. Retired couples wishing to downsize, should also consider the Driftwood.

In addition to the attractive wood exterior, this innovative floor design offers more than many plans boasting a lot more square footage and a higher price tag. A classic covered porch takes you through the entry and into the spacious family room. A vaulted ceiling accents the feeling of openness that marks the Driftwood. There is plenty of room here for a full complement of furniture. An optional entertainment center will add to your enjoyment of this main family gathering spot.

The two secondary bedrooms are nice-sized, and each has a generous closet and a view window facing front. They share a full bathroom located in the connecting hallway, which also features built-in shelves and convenient guest closet.

The master suite is quite a surprise for a home this size. A big sleeping area, huge walk-in closet and private bathroom grace the main bedroom. Linen storage and a small utility closet are nearby.

The garage, stylishly attached to the side of the house, offers you the safety and benefit of being able to unload groceries directly from your car into the kitchen. No need to worry about the weather while performing this chore.

The functional kitchen, complete with all the built-in appliances, lets you prepare meals with a minimum of bother. The vaulted dining room provides a pleasant atmosphere to break bread and discuss the events of the day. Sliding glass doors open to the back patio, admitting a cool breeze and offering a spot for occasional outdoor dining or working on your tan when the sun is shining.

For a study kit of the DRIFTWOOD (404-41), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

PET PARADE

PET OF THE WEEK Biscuit

"BISCUIT" is a one year old, female labrador mix. A puppy at heart, this attractive girl has a soft fawn colored coat with cream highlights, a gentle face and a sweet docile personality. A smaller mid-size dog, Biscuit combines the delightful playfulness of a puppy with the affectionate tail wagging love that labs are known for. Young and very trainable, Biscuit wants to please and will quickly learn whatever she is taught. Biscuit loves attention and she is very responsive. This is a dog that loves life and people, wants to love someone special and to be loved. If you are looking for a great dog for your family, come and see Biscuit in Cage 77. She has been waiting since June 1995 for a family to call her very own.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING & OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

Dr. Trask

Ask The Vet

Ask The Vet-Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

Question:

How do pets get fleas? What is the best way to get rid of them?

Answer:

The fleas live in the carpet, or the park or yard grass, or on an infested animal. Most of the time your pet passes through or near an area where fleas have not had a blood meal for a while and they are very hungry. The fleas sense your pet's movement, body heat, and carbon dioxide and hop on to eat. PREVENTING fleas is the best and most cost effective treatment. There are several excellent flea preventatives available through your veterinarian. These new products are safe and easy to use. Depending on the product your veterinarian feels best for your specific pet and environment, they may only have to be applied to your pet every 2-4 weeks, your house every 4-6 months, and the outdoor area treated every 4-8 weeks. We like to start flea preventative in April or May when the weather breaks and warms to 65-70 degree temperatures which encourage their life cycle. We continue preventatives until it is frozen outdoors, usually occurring around Thanksgiving.

Question:

My dog barks when the doorbell rings. How do I get him to stop?

Answer:

Barking when an unusual sound is heard is a natural instinct for your pet. We feel this is something that most pet owners would NOT want to stop since this makes strangers aware that there is a pet guarding the home. If this is something that is very bothersome to you, then this natural response can be conditioned to be stopped, but it will be very time consuming because you are trying to break your pet of something that occurs naturally. Professional trainers can be very helpful in this situation. Desensitizing your pet to those sounds with prescription mood elevator medication may also be helpful.

Question:

I have a pet frog. How do I care for him and what is the average life expectancy for frogs?

Answer:

There are several different species of frogs available, varying in size, life expectancy, and environment. For this reason we cannot properly answer the above question for your specific frog, but we can refer you to your local library where you will find a large selection of books on the husbandry, care, and characteristics of all the various species of frogs.

Question:

Why does my dog bite me when I run?

Answer:

Dogs get very excited when playing/running/jumping because these behaviors are part of their natural play habits. If you have ever watched puppies or dogs together in their environment when they play, then you know jumping and biting is a normal response. You need to work with your pet to let it know that you are its master, not a sibling, and that although playing is okay and expected, biting is not an acceptable behavior for its master.

Question:

How do you keep dogs from jumping on people?

Answer:

This habit can be broken by bringing you knee to the dog's chest when the dog jumps, then saying "NO!" and removing the dog from your environment and giving them NO ATTENTION for 30-60 minutes. We recommend that you have a professional trainer or your veterinarian demonstrate the proper way to do this so injury to your pet does not occur. Remember that your pet can not distinguish when jumping is acceptable and when it is not, so breaking this habit means NEVER allowing the jumping without punishment.

Windsor debuts all-new models at Fairway Greens

Windsor Development Corporation recently hosted a model grand opening at Fairway Greens in Antioch.

A new townhome community framed by the fairways and greens of the picturesque Antioch Golf Course, Fairway Greens is currently featuring three brand new floor plans designed expressly for the new 86-home community. The three new models include:

The Bayhill

A 1,363 square foot two-story, the Bayhill features a spacious foyer, volume living room, adjoining volume dining room and a large eat-in kitchen on the first floor. On the second floor are a master bedroom with walk-in closet, full hall bath, sitting room/second bedroom and dramatic loft overlooking the dining room below. The Bayhill is base priced from $139,900 (all prices are subject to change without notice) including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

The Cantigny

Another two-story, the 1,520 square foot Cantigny opens to a large angled foyer. Other first-floor highlights include a two-story living room, open formal dining room and side-by-side kitchen/breakfast room. A spacious master suite with oversized private bath, a second luxury bath and an 11 1/2-foot by 12-foot secondary bedroom are featured upstairs. The Cantigny is base priced from $149,900 (three bedroom version available from $153,600) including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

The Augusta

The largest of the three plans, the Augusta offers 1,527 square feet of living space. A mirror image of the Bayhill on the first floor, the Augusta also comes complete with a large foyer, volume living room, formal (but not volume) dining room and a spacious eat-in kitchen. The second floor, however, has been expanded to include a larger master suite, larger secondary bedroom, larger loft and an additional full bath. The Augusta is based priced from $148,900 including a full basement, an attached two-car garage, central air-conditioning, and a deck.

According to Sharon Glusica, sales manager at Fairway Greens, two of the three models—The Augusta and Cantigny—feature fully-furnished interiors designed by Bonni Morris of Chicago-based B. Morris interiors.

"We left the Bayhill model unfurnished so buyers could get an up-close-and-personal look at the quality construction built into all three plans," Glusica said.

For more information, call (847) 838-0595 or visit the on-site sales center and new models. To reach Fairway Greens, take Rte. 59 north to Harbor Ridge Drive (less than one-quarter mile south of Grass Lake Road) and turn left (west). Follow Harbor Ridge Drive through the Antioch Golf Club to the sales center and models located at 3975 N. Tee Side Crt. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

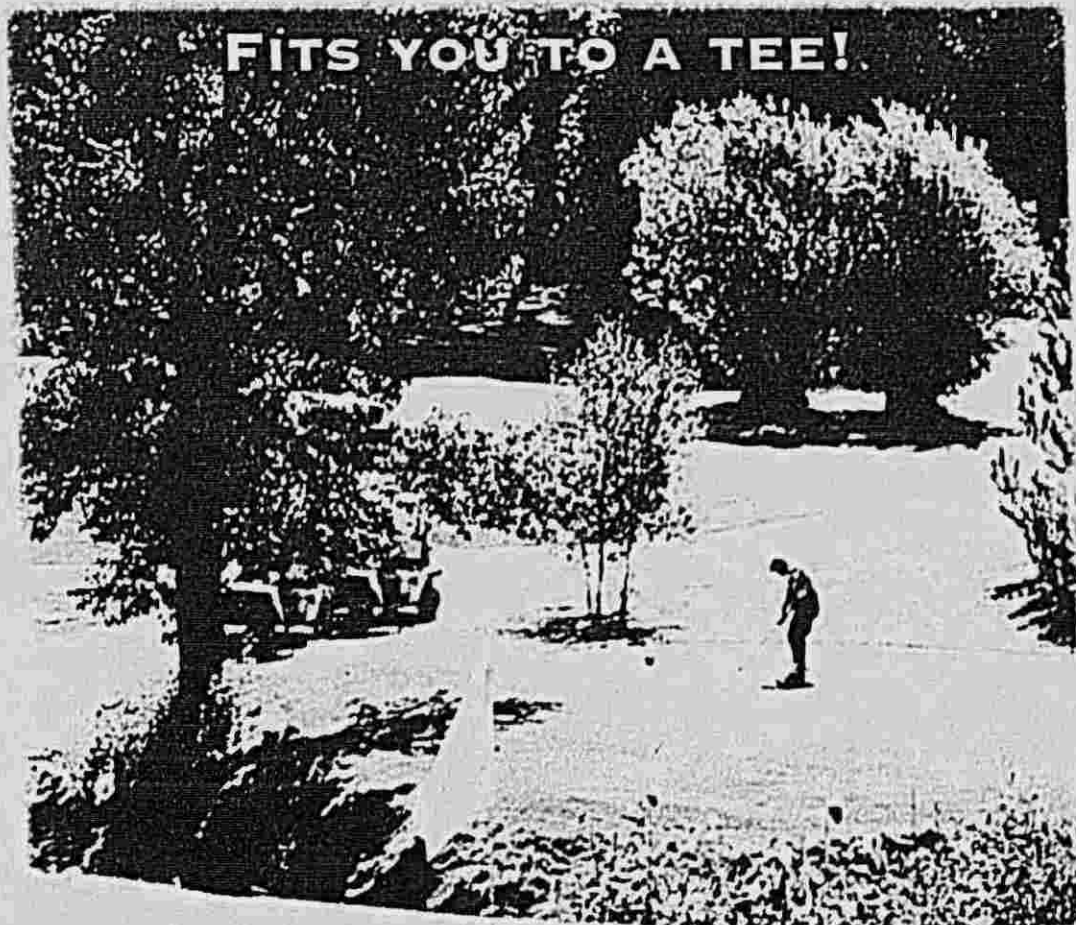

The largest of the three plans, the Augusta offers 1,527 square feet of living space. The Augusta also comes complete with a large foyer, volume living room, formal dining room and a spacious eat-in kitchen. Available at Fairway Greens in Antioch.

For excellent carpet cleaning call Mike Davignon, Bonnie Perry, Lee Kraft, Chris Williams, David Creiger or Jim Fox at Dick's Carpet Service.

Carpet, upholstery cleaning at its best

Remember when carpets and upholstery never looked quite the same after they were cleaned? Dick's Carpet Service, located at 39070 Green Bay Rd. in Beach Park, uses a revolutionary cleaning process that keeps those valuable carpets and your favorite upholstery looking as good as new.

According to Mike Davignon, who has 31 years of carpet cleaning knowledge to offer customers, the use of a van mounted cleaning system, the Bane-Clene Process, is the secret, one recommended by most carpet manufacturers.

This is a warm water extraction process which uses over 99 percent water to clean your favorite carpet, leaving no residue to draw dirt. Extracting 95 percent of the cleaning solution from your carpet leaves it practically dry when the process is finished. The solution used is biodegradable and non-toxic, so it is safe for children and pets.

A speed drying system is implemented during humid weather and deodorization is done when necessary. A quality control call will be made the day after the cleaning to insure excellent service.

Oriental and area rugs will be picked up, cleaned at the plant and returned. Dick's also offers water damage restoration, as well as upholstery dry cleaning. Each customer receives free lifetime spot cleaner refills.

Dick's Carpet Service offers three distinct packages to fit most carpet-cleaning needs: the Value Added Service Pkg., the Protector Guarantee Pkg. and the Always Clean Maintenance Service Pkg.

Ahlstrand Marine carries enough boats to supply an Army!

Ahlstrand Marine stocks enough canoes, boats and paddle boats to supply a small army (Ahlstrand has already supplied the "Navy" at Great Lakes Naval Training Center).

It all started back in 1974 on Milwaukee Avenue in Wheeling. Specializing in custom fishing boats, Ahlstrand outgrew their Wheeling facility and moved to their present location in 1984. At 1300 Town Line Rd., Mundelein, Ahlstrand continued with fishing boats and added runabouts (fiberglass aluminum) as well as paddle boats, canoes and a greatly expanded display of boating accessories and supplies. To service what they sell, an eight bay service center was added shortly after the move to Mundelein.

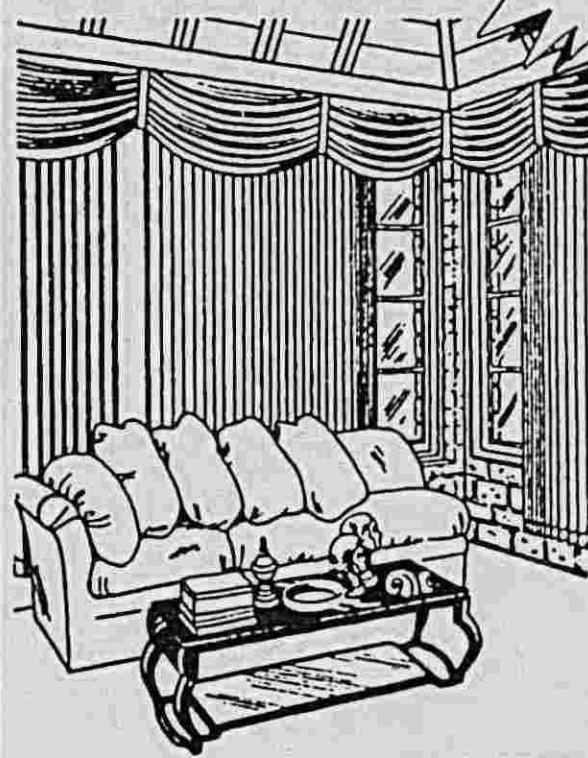

Stop by any day but Monday and see what Ahlstrand Marine has to offer, or call them at (847)949-8899 to get down loaded on their specials.

Rodriguez keeps juggling job, coaching, radio gig

Alan Rodriguez, an investment broker for A.G. Edwards and Son in Chicago helps kids make real money every year.

Making it his business to teach business, he leads a course called applied economics at Addison Trail High School. The students issue share in a company, then engage in various business activities to make the value grow. The students have a strong sense of ownership in their company, he said.

At the end of the year, the company is dissolved and the money distributed. "Last year our class made about $35 a share," he added.

Through a similar program called Project Business, Rodriguez works with eighth graders at Palisades Middle School in Burr Ridge.

"We have an auction, selling off items the kids like, to show them how to supply and demand work to escalate prices," he said.

His educational efforts are not limited to children since Rodriguez also teaches finance courses through Lyons Twp. Adult Education.

At age 32, Alan T. Rodriguez is just warming up.

An investment broker for two years at A.G. Edwards and Sons in Chicago, he was a broker for two years at Hamilton Investments.

For seven years, he taught religion classes at St. Cletus Church in LaGrange and at St. Scholastica in Woodridge. However, just when he got smart, decided to slow down and stop teaching the Sunday school, he got a strange feeling.

"I felt like I wasn't doing enough for my community. I felt I had to give something back, so I started coaching," Rodriguez said.

Being head basketball coach at St.

Cletus wasn't enough, he also had to take on the job of assistant coach of the school's football team. He is now an assistant coach for eighth grade and won the LTHS tournament.

"With teaching Sunday school, I felt I taught the kids morals. It's a little different with sports. Teaching them to try to achieve and enjoy winning makes kids feel like they're doing something. It's very important."

Rodriguez provides advice not just to his clients, but also to listeners of radio station WKRS, 1220-AM in Lake County. Rodriguez gives a live, two-minute stock market wrap-up and business report for the station twice a day, Monday through Friday. He also hosts a monthly 45-minute call-in show during which he answers investment questions. "I want to help people meet their financial goals," says Rodriguez.

"There are so many choices out there," he observes, options ranging from stocks and bonds to mutual funds, municipal bonds and annuities, it can be tough to decide the best way to utilize your assets. By reviewing each individual's each individual's situation, we can customize an investment strategy that fits."

For example, Rodriguez explains, "Investors looking for companies with high dividend payouts should look for companies that have raised their dividends continuously over the past five or 10 years."

Who knows what's next for "Al T" as he sometimes calls himself? Rodriguez even makes house calls! To arrange an appointment, call 1(800)888-4299.

Wild Bird Center offers community valuable resource

A Wild Bird Center customer recently noticed a bird outside his window, but didn't know what it was. And there was another mystery, why did the bird ignore the seed mix he just bought? Somewhere across town a backyard enthusiast pondered her empty birdhouse, and wondered how she could attract a tenant this spring.

Our customers belong to a growing number of Americans who enjoy backyard birdwatching. In fact, feeding and watching birds is the second most popular hobby in the country. (Gardening is first). The reasons are obvious, birds are everywhere. Their songs and colors are among the simplest joys of nature. Getting to know the birds and their habits is relaxing and brings us closer to the natural world. Best of all, our backyards are a great place to do it.

The Wild Bird Center is the place to find answers to your bird questions, and much more. Walk into the store, and you'll be treated to a sample of what backyard birding offers you. Gently flowing water, the melodious sounds of birds, and the subtle smell of cedar and suflower calm your senses. Then you begin to explore, and be sure to allow plenty of time.

The Wild Bird Center offers the area's largest selection of feeders, seed, houses, baths, optics, and books for birdwatching. More importantly, we have the knowledge to help you sort it all out. For example, offering niger seed to Goldfinches requires a special type of feeder with tiny openings. Goldfinches lose their bright yellow plumage in the winter, but they remain in many areas throughout the year, so don't take those niger feeders down.

Some people are surprised to learn that a seed mix isn't always the best option to attract the birds you want in your yard. You often get better results with a certain type of seed offered where the birds who like it are most likely to feed. Millet, for example, is best offered on the ground where it is popular with ground feeders such as chipping or tree sparrows, juncos, and doves.

For a better view of the beautiful birds in the Lake County area, the Wild Bird Center offers a choice of the finest binoculars and spotting scopes with the technical expertise to help you find the best match. You'll also find an extensive selection of field guides and books on favorite species such as hummingbirds or bluebirds. Audio tapes and CDs can help train your ears to recognize bird songs.

The Wild Bird Center is more than a store. It is also a valuable community resource. The center features regularly scheduled free birdwalks, and offers special programs for kids, garden clubs, seniors and other organizations. The programs include topics like feeder placement, birdhouse building, and bird-friendly landscaping. For more information, call Wild Bird Center at (847) 549-9990.

Schmidt Implement, family owned and operated since 1923

For over 70 years, Schmidt Implement Company in Salem, Wis. has been providing quality equipment and service to people in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois. John Deere, known for its performance and quality, has always been the main brand sold at Schmidt's, in farm machinery, lawn and grounds care equipment for both the homeowner and commercial user, and light industrial equipment. John Deere's line has tractors to fit all needs from small lawns to large estates to landscaping work and farming. Schmidt also carries John Deere and Gehl skid loaders, Echo outdoor power equipment, Land Pride tractor attachments, used equipment, and other specialized lines.

In 1923, Frank Schmidt moved from a farm into Salem and bought a farm equipment business that operated in an old livery stable barn (horses were a common trade-in in those days). His son Al Schmidt took over the business in 1935 and led the company into years of growth and a new building in the 1960's. By the time Al's son Bob replaced him in 1970, the company was changing with the community and was selling John Deere lawn and garden tractors. Currently Bob and his son Dave, the fourth generation of the family in the business, serve a customer base that is half non-farm. Schmidt's has grown to be one of the largest John Deere lawn equipment dealers in the state.

Schmidt Implement has always strived to provide the best customer service to all they do business with. Whether you need a new spark plug or to invest in large equipment, the friendly people at Schmidt Implement will take the time to make sure your needs are met. A large inventory is available for you to test drive something before you buy. Equipment is sold assembled and ready to use with delivery service available.

Financing is available on site not only for new and used equipment but for parts and repair service as well. So for all your equipment needs, you can rely on Schmidt Implement, family owned and operated since 1923.

Tool rules to keep in mind for spring fix-up jobs

Before the first robin returns, homeowners are thinking about the jobs that await them after a hard winter. Before starting your spring fix-up projects, take time to make sure your tools are in top working order and are right for the job.

Any tool, no matter how durable, can fail if it is misused, whether it's used for gutter and shingle repair, installation of storm windows, or getting equipment ready for the lawn and garden.

Metal-to-metal contact under pressure, combined with a striking or twisting motion, can result in broken metal fragments that can cause injury. In the interest of do-it-yourself safety, these general safety rules should be studied before starting any spring projects:

- Follow the manufacturer's instruction on the package.
- Wear safety goggles when using hand tools.
- Keep all tools clean, dry and in working order.
- Use the tool only for the job it was meant to do.
- Buy several versions or sizes of the same tool or ensure the right tool for the job.

- Throw away damaged for abused tools promptly.
- Be sure tools and work are compatible.
- Be sure handles are fixed firmly into a tool's working end.
- Confine impact forces to striking and struck tools.
- Shut off current before using a tool near electricity.
- Hold work in a clamp or vise, not in your hand.
- Never use a vise or clamp for lifting, pulling or transporting.
- Pull instead of push a wrench handle for safer leverage.
- Keep jaw teeth, cutter and blades sharp for better results.
- Use steady pressure on jaws and cutters; don't rock the tool.
- Keep a tool's moving parts properly cleaned and tightened.
- A sharp cutting tool is less dangerous than a dull one.
- Use pads in the jaws to protect soft or crushable work.
- Keep tools from excessive heat.
- For continuous work, use comfort grips or gloves.

MARCH 7, 1997 Lakeland Newspapers 1997 LMV HOME & GARDEN SHOW D17

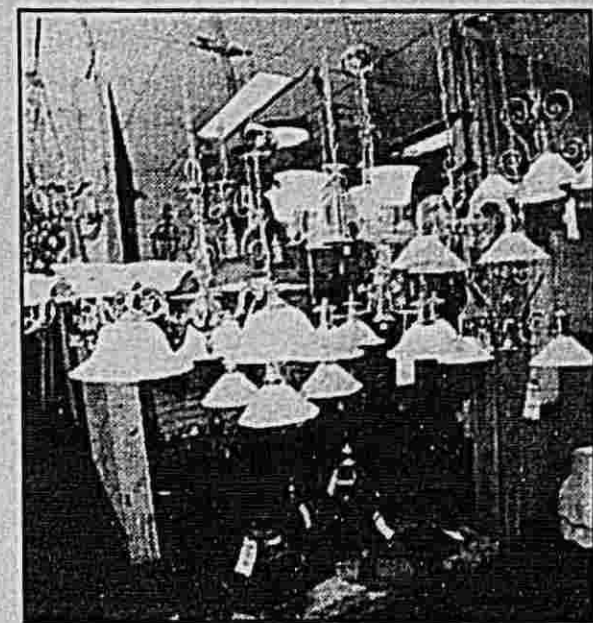

Ever since a great power said "Let there be light!" we have been drawn towards its brilliance and glitter. With the many beautiful lighting styles available on today's market, we are also drawn by the glamour of light.

At the Light Brothers Lighting Showrooms, owned by the Vivirito family since 1907, every lighting line sold in the country is represented. They also carry complete lines of ceiling fans and art decor, such as Tiffany art glass. The Light Brothers specialize in furnishing the complete lighting for newly constructed homes, as well as free lighting design and layouts for inside and outside, including landscape lighting.

Emerson, Regency and Casablanca are just a few of the well-known brands found in their huge selection of ceiling fans, with and without lights. A myriad of attractive lamp shades in many sizes, shapes and colors can also be found at their showrooms. The professional and friendly

Enjoy living in a picturesque community at Painted Lakes in Lake Villa

Four single-family homes are available for early delivery at Painted Lakes, a community highlighted by more than 66 acres of wetlands preserve and natural open space in Lake Villa.

Bordered on one side by the Sun Lake Forest Preserve, Painted Lakes is a 165-acre community which will include 218 single-family homes in two series as well as 134 townhomes when complete. Four professionally decorated single-family models are now open and the community is currently 20 percent sold.

Buyers may choose from 10 home designs in two distinctive series, the Genesis Classic, base-priced from $149,990 to $187,990 and the Genesis Heritage, base-priced from $185,990 to $214,990.

The two-story Essex in the Genesis Classic Series offer 1,930 square feet of living space; four bedrooms; 2 1/2 baths; formal living room and dining room; family room; eat-in kitchen; first-floor den; and attached two-car garage, priced from $175,990. The Essex may also be expanded to 2,250 square feet.

Homes are situated on large homesites, ranging in size from 8,500 to 15,000 square feet. Due to the rolling nature of the land plan, the community is ideal for walk-out and English basements.

Buyers may also view three-dimensional home designs with a new virtual reality computer program at The Townhomes of Painted Lakes. The Fern is a 1,334 square-foot home which features two bedrooms and a loft, 2 1/2 bath; expansive great room with fireplace; formal dining room with access to the patio; spacious kitchen; master bedroom suite with large walk-in closet and private access to a full bath; additional storage; and attached two-car garage, priced from $126,990.

Upon entering the Fern, guests are welcomed by a two-story entry with dramatic views of the graceful staircase with decorative plant shelf. The expansive living room measures 13 3/4 by 14 3/4 feet and features a cozy corner fireplace. Adjoining the living room is the formal dining room, which measures 9 3/4 by 12 feet and offers access to the patio.

Designed to accommodate walk-out and English basements, eight two-story plans are available to buyers. The townhomes are arranged with three to five homes per building.

Residents can enjoy the benefits of living in a picturesque community and still have easy access to nearby shopping, restaurants and regional attractions including the Chain O'Lakes, Gurnee Mills Outlet Mall and Six Flags Great America.

In addition, the highly rated Dist. 34 schools serve the residents of Painted Lakes. A new Metra station opened in Lake Villa in August, 1996, offering access to O'Hare International Airport and downtown Chicago.

Quiet, private living available in townhome on Wooster Lake

The grand opening of five professionally decorated model homes is now being celebrated at Tanneron Bay, a townhome community on the shores of Wooster Lake in Ingleside.

Tanneron Bay will include 86 townhomes on a scenic 26-acre lakefront parcel of land with views of the 100-acre lake. Prices range from $124,990 to $147,490, and walk-out basements are available, ranging from $13,450 to $17,450.

Being developed by Four Oaks Development Corp., Tanneron Bay features the same award-winning designs that sold out in just nine months at Library Hill in Wauconda. The same homes are also being offered at Rainier Woods in Fox Lake.

According to Marcia Redlinger, sales and marketing manager, special incentives are being offered as part of the introduction of the new models.

"Visitors to Tanneron Bay during our grand opening phase can walk through five beautiful homes, and if they decide to buy, they can take advantage of affordable introductory pricing and free central air conditioning," said Redlinger. "In addition, those buyers who have dreamed of living in lakefront homes can choose among select locations which overlook beautiful Wooster Lake. Lakefront sites

Quiet, private Wooster Lake is used for sailing, fishing and paddle boats so it offers a serene environment for the homes. A boat launch and a park with a walking path along

The five model homes, with interior design by the Concept Group of Northbrook, feature exciting, open architecture with vaulted ceilings, dramatic window expanses and convenient traffic patterns. Six floor plans are offered, ranging from 1,330 to 1,756 square feet with two or three bedrooms; 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 baths; and attached one- or two-car attached garages. Exterior maintenance is handled by an association.

"These homes are ideal for professional singles and couples, first-time home buyers and those whose children are grown," said Redlinger.

"With walk-out basements, buyers can add approximately 600 feet of living space, so the floor plans are very flexible."

The sales center and new model homes at Tanneron Bay are located on Rte. 134, one mile east of Rte.
